MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The Attention of Architects, Builders, Owners and Managers of Hotels and Apartment Houses is called to the New York Telephone Company's Private Branch Exchange System.

By means of a Private Branch Exchange city and long distance telephone service, as well as an interior service, are available to every apartment, at very moderate cost. Most people depend so much now-a-days on the telephone service that a Private Branch Exchange, connecting with the New York Telephone System, is practically a necessity in the Modern Apartment House or Hotel.

Vol. LXIX. APRIL 12, 1902. No. 1778

WITH daily transactions on the Stock Exchange crossing the million-share mark, and the bond market correspondingly active, it would seem that the manipulation of the past six or seven months had succeeded in enticing the public back into the field of stock speculation, if it were not that so large a contribution to the total of stock business was made by the Southwestern stocks. There is undoubtedly more business doing in the commission houses, but not enough to account for the increase of exchange business. Endless rumors are afloat to account for the rise in Louisville & Nashville and the buying of Southern Railway, not one of which is satisfactory. Both Louisville and Southern are doing well enough to attract speculative buying on earning returns alone, but purchases of any considerable amount would put quotations up sharply and the popular imagination could easily be relied upon to do the rest. The strength of prices generally is due as much as anything to the impossibility of organizing a bear movement because of the scarcity of floating stocks, and "shorting" must certainly be followed by swift punishment. When men get over the sensation of the moment and turn their attention to basic conditions they will find the crop situation, as displayed by the Government report, one to create caution at least, although it is early in the year and there has been some improvement since the data for the report could have been collected. Money has advanced in the week, and we may now expect an increased demand from the agricultural sections and possibly also from abroad.

NOTHING shows better the caution the Boers have taught the British than the failure of the latter to act upon the reports of approaching peace, notwithstanding the inferences that may be fairly drawn from the fact that the Boer leaders are meeting under safe-conducts granted at their own request. What this really means seems now to be breaking in on the minds of people in Europe, because yesterday the markets there became active and, as was natural, Consols became the most prominent feature and advanced sharply. With the war terminated and the Government given the chance of issuing a guaranteed Transvaal loan instead of more Consols to meet the cost yet requiring to be funded, or even with an issue of Consols which could be considered the last likely to be required for a long time, there would be a substantial rally in the latter security and in other Government issues sympathetically. The Government officials decline to be caught predicting again, but it is evident that they expect a satisfactory outcome of the Boer conference from the way they are holding back the budget and other financial matters. Preparations have indeed gone far ahead for a movement in South African mines, as we note that of a total of £4,400,000 of new capital applied for in London in the past quarter for mining companies £3,589,500 was for South Africa—£2,987,000 being for the Transvaal and £602,500 for Rhodesia. Altogether, with peace in South Africa assured, we can look for a very large increase in the gold production of the coming twelve months, a fact that cannot fail to have a favorable effect upon the values of investment securities in all parts of the world. The London Economist's special commissioner is again warning the public of the mining traps and pitfalls that are being set for them, and says despondently: "If there are, say, five hundred more mines going to be floated shortly in the outside districts of the Transvaal, I suppose about five of these, or just one per cent., may eventually reach a profit-earning stage. But what does it matter? The public is going to have a huge gamble on sentiment, and the value of the mines is really a secondary point. Someone may say: "But how will it be possible to float five hundred mines; where are there only just so many reefs?' To this I reply that there are hundreds of miles of reefs in the De Kaap, Lydenburg, Murchison, Heidelberg and Klerksdorp districts. There will be no trouble on that head." The Transvaal gold output for March was 104,127 ozs., an increase over February of about 23,000 ozs. The first of the current monthly reports was 39,095 ozs. for last November.

The Municipal Departments.

THE Board of Estimate and Apportionment by its action during the past week in reducing salaries, and in establishing a classification of departmental subordinates, has taken an important step toward the introduction of some economy and organization into the departmental service. By so doing the administration has shown that it proposes to stand by its pledges, and that it will do its best to cut down salaries and expenses whenever consistent with the good of the service. The statement is explicitly made that the work of reorganizing the departments, which is now only begun, will be continued throughout the whole term of the administration, and that no effort will be spared to stimulate into efficient activity the members, as well as the body of the municipal service.

The reform administration is confronted by many difficult problems; but surely none of them is more difficult than that of securing a collection of competent and trustworthy departmental employees. Many circumstances combine to increase the difficulty of the problem. The standards of municipal administration have in the past been lax. The departments have been filled with clerks who have been taken on for every reason in the world except those of expert knowledge and tested ability. The employees knew that they were appointed to office and retained there for other reasons than those of special competence and energetic work. They have been habituated to taking their task easily and considering that a good day's work could be done in four or five hours of leisurely employment, and there is a well-founded suspicion that in some cases they made personal profit out of the evasion of the laws which it was their duty to execute. Many of these employees would doubtless, under a better system, make useful and energetic public servants; but under existing circumstances they can see in effort to reorganize and invigorate their work only an obnoxious disturbance of a pleasant and leisurely life. They know that the term of the present administration will last only two years, and they do not forget that it may be superseded by another, which will consider itself in duty bound to undo all that a reform administration has done. Consequently they feel encouraged to offer a stubborn and passive resistance to these attempts to reorganize the departments into economy and efficiency, knowing full well that if they can only hang on for a couple of years the good old times may return of advancing salaries, abundant leisure, and, for some of them, an occasional "rake-off."

If such is even a fairly just description of the present situation the difficulty of reorganizing the service along better lines will be immediately appreciated. The present administration must in some way combine the tasks of introducing economy and efficiency, and at the same time of winning the confidence and support of the departmental subordinates; and it has started in the right way to accomplish these apparently contradictory jobs. The most necessary preliminary step is undoubtedly a proper system of classification, so that a man's salary will depend upon the kind of work he does and not upon arbitrary preferences or "pulls" of any kind. The next step will be to provide some recognized and established method of advancing employees from a lower to a higher grade—according as they became qualified to do more difficult and remunerative work. If such a proper system of promotion and reward for good service is introduced it will do more to increase the support which the employees will give to the administration than any other single step in the reorganization. It will rally to the policy of the Mayor all the more energetic and ambitious employees, and will provide them with a motive for doing their best. This motive will not, unfortunately, be very strong, because the Legislature of 1901, in its wisdom, cut down the term of the Mayor from four to two years; but it should be strong enough to get them started in the right direction—a direction in which the succeeding administration may at least keep them moving.

Such measures are in the way of a good beginning, but the goal is still remote. In the end there is one necessary condition to securing the best possible service from a set of government employees, and that is the presence throughout the whole body of a pervasive and effective "esprit de corps." They must take pride in their service, just as a soldier takes pride in his flag. In a private business such an "esprit de corps" is not necessary, because as a rule under such circumstances the pressure of competition is so constant that the men who are energetic and skilful rise to the top by the sheer momentum of their work. But in the public service there is no such pressure, and unless the service has its own standards of honorable achievement it tends to a dead level of inertia and mediocrity. It was the late Colonel Waring's particular and memorable achievement that he injected some spirit of pride in the uniform and the work into the street cleaning department, and his example points a standard which the departmental chiefs at the present time should adopt as their own. The two best civil services of Europe, those of England and Prussia, are leavened and invigorated by a spirit of this kind, and New York will never get full money's worth for its vast expenditures until its officials bring to their work this technical disinterestedness and professional pride. Of course such a spirit can only arise after the complete destruction of the spoils system, and after permanent conditions of appointment and service have been established. Nothing of the kind can happen as long as there is an upheaval after every municipal election. But if Tammany will only keep on nominating such men as Edward Shepard and its opponents such men as Mayor Low, perhaps we may gradually secure a set of trained officials who will give the city conscientious and efficient work, no matter who may sit in the mayor's chair.

The Real Estate Situation

There has been during the past week a distinct diminution of activity. Some few important sales have taken place, chiefly in the central part of the city, and a large number of private houses have changed hands, although not so many as usual; but the gross number of sales reported in our "Gossip" columns is less by a quarter than the number we have been recently accustomed to report. In all probability, however, this is rather a lull than a reaction. For the market has acquired a considerable momentum, which as yet is far from being spent, and this momentum, in spite of considerable speculative spurring, has behind it an enormous demand from people who want to use real property, even if there are not many investors about. The activity in the cheaper residences east of the Park continues, but it is more largely than ever on a speculative basis. Real estate operators with long memories declare that it has led to an amount of trading in contracts utterly unknown in New York for thirty years past. During the period of excited speculation previous to 1873 operators used to deal in contracts and sell them back and forth without waiting for the slow and expensive process of taking title. Something of the same kind is happening on the East Side at the present time. We have heard of the case of a residence on 69th street, between Madison and 5th avenues, which was bought by an operator, who sold the contract on advance, then bought it back at another advance, and finally sold it again at a profit of $3,000 on the last transaction. It must not be inferred, however, that because there is beginning to be quick speculation in contracts as there was in the boom times previous to the panic of 1873 that the present movement, like the former, is a mere process of inflation. A sufficient corrective of that notion is supplied by the fact that the dealings at the present time are taking place in improved property, which has an income value, but which is being drawn back into the tide of speculation, because of the necessity of reconstructing and re-adapting the buildings of Manhattan to modern economic demands and standards of taste. Just at present New York cannot freely expand across either the East or the Harlem River, a fact which is concentrating the expansive power of the city upon the task of reorganization and readjustment on Manhattan Island. When the Subway is operating, and the Williamsburgh Bridge and New Brooklyn tunnel are finished, we shall have for some years a very different kind of a real estate market.

A Lull in the Market.

It is a familiar comment among people interested in real estate that the auction market does not play as important a part in real estate transactions as it did ten years ago. The sales are not as numerous; neither do they tend to be as uniformly successful as they once were, and people are sometimes puzzled to account for the change. The chief reason appears to be the increased speculative interest in the market. Speculators are by profession on the lookout for bargains, and they wil not buy a piece of property unless in their judgment, which is generally accurate, it looks very cheap. Moreover, when they buy they usually like to cover up their tracks, so that from their point of view the publicity of the auction market is against it. Another important reason is the unfortunate fact that real estate has been for some years under a cloud from the investment point of view. Property is bought either for use, in which case some particular plot is usually purchased at private sale, or else it is bought as a speculation, in which case the auction market is, as we have observed above, an undesirable method of purchase. Still another reason, perhaps the most important of all, is the fact that it is so rarely that really desirable parcels are offered at auction. There are always for sale in New York a mass of badly-situated, heavily-mortgaged real estate, whose owners are extremely anxious to unload, and who frequently ask the auction market to relieve them of the burden; and if that market goes back on them it is scarcely the fault of the market. On the other hand, well-situated properties in good physical and financial condition frequently sell well. This was apparently the case with the Remsen estate, offered during the past week. That of Simon Sterne did not do so well, but the kind of unimproved lots offered are not very much in demand at present. Tne auctioneers have it in their own hands to improve the auction market by improving, so far as they can, the character of the sales.

The Auction Market.

As the project for building the New York and Port Chester electric railroad advances towards the concrete state it ought to advance the interests of real estate in the Bronx and in Westchester along the line of its route. The plan having been approved by the State Railroad Commission, the promoters claim that nothing now stands in the way of physical work, the approval of the municipal authorities being only required for the grades at street crossings. The line will commence at the northern approach of the Willis avenue bridge at 132d street and will parallel the New York and New Haven railroad on the westerly side until the Bronx River is reached; thence it will take a course running through all the well-known towns out to the Connecticut border at Port Chester. A branch will run from the main line to Clason's Point on the East River. From the names and circumstances mentioned in connection with the new railway it seems to be only part of an elaborate plan for participating not only in the transit business of the Bronx, but in the development of the borough also. The recent purchase of the City Island Railroad, which runs from Bartow Station to City Island, we believe will eventually be found to have been made in the interest of parties who are back of the Rapid Transit project, and it is now said that the Interborough project has backing from the same sources. In the course of these developments City Island is to be converted into a popular resort. Finally the whole of these projects are to be operated in harmony with the Rapid Transit railroad. Whatever the proportions of the truth and surmise in these stories, it is clear that the Bronx is a section of intense interest to capital favoring transit enterprise, and that fact alone ought to give the realty coming within its influence an appreciated value in the investor's eye, as well as make for structural development.

Bronx Transit Developments.

A couple of incidents during the past week have served to concentrate attention upon the neighborhood of 5th avenue and 42d street. One is the fact that some of the Gerry leaseholds in that vicinity fall in on May 1st, and that demands have been made for very much higher ground rentals than those to which the property is subject at the present time. The $3,300 which Russell Sage, for instance, is paying for 506 5th avenue is to be raised to $10,000, or else Mr. Sage will have to vacate, and a corresponding increase is demanded for the ground rent of the Hotel Bristol. The increases will embrace, perhaps, a dozen parcels altogether, and are likely to lead to some important changes in the neighborhood. For Mr. Sage declares that he will get out rather than pay what he considers to be an extortionate rental, and the Hotel Bristol cannot afford to continue on the basis of a much larger ground rent. Consequently it is probable that these lots will in the future be used for business rather than for residence purposes—for the west corner of 5th avenue and 42d street is one of the finest parcels in the city for a large office building or hotel. In no part of 5th avenue is the process of reconstruction proceeding more rapidly than on 5th avenue immediately north of 42d street. The concentration of apartment hotels, club-houses and other centers of social life in that vicinity gives it a peculiar advantage for certain high grades of business, particularly for tailors and firms connected with interior decoration. The extension to the Hotel Rennaissance which David H. King proposes to build on the two lots on 5th avenue adjoining the present building is an indication of the prosperity of such enterprises in that vicinity. Another center of local activity is Broadway for a few blocks south from Sherman Square. The Central Realty Bond and Trust Co. has bought a plot of five and a half lots on the southeast corner of Broadway and 69th street, and John L. Miller has bought a plot 164.11x116.11 on the northwest corner of Broadway and 65th street, which gives the buyer control of the whole block. Both these purchases probably look toward large improvements as soon as upper Broadway recovers from its present dismantled condition; and they are in the line with recent transactions in that part of the avenue stretching from the Circle to 72d street. It is apparent that the whole neighborhood mentioned will some day be given over to large hotels, apartment houses and places of amusement, for which purposes large parcels of property are now being accumulated in strong hands. But it is significant that this lower quarter of the West Side should have to wait for its appropriate development until toward the end of the whole process of improvement. The reason is obvious. That part of Broadway was not intended for small enterprises; it was too open and too centrally situated; and its improvement had to wait until the real estate situation on the West Side justified a large number of large enterprises. A corresponding movement is taking place near the other southerly corner of the Park. The vicinity of Madison avenue and 59th street is also a favorite center of large improvements. Albert Sire will build a twelve-story apartment hotel on a corner of 60th street and Madison avenue, and plans have been filed for a similar building on 60th street, between Madison and 5th avenues.

AMONG the bills passed by the Legislature but disapproved by Mayor Low were those providing for the payment of assessments in the three boroughs least developed by ten annual instalments, and that reducing the interest on unpaid assessments confirmed after January 1st, 1902, from seven to six per cent. Their disapproval by the Mayor was a great disappointment to the large body of property-owners directly interested in the bills, and to whom the relief sought would have been a great boon. The administration had, it is true, previously expressed its diapproval of the bills when in the Legislature, but as their position seemed to be simply one of objection to anything calculated to reduce the city's income, it was thought that the arguments that could be offered to support the changes proposed might make them see that there was something more than a mere question of public income involved. That there was the Mayor in effect admitted when he said the bill relating to the payment of assessments by instalments was an attempt to deal with a situation that needed thorough and radical treatment and when he promised the early consideration of the administration to it. It has long been thought that the city should claim no more than the usual legal rate of interest on unpaid assessments, but Mayor Low seemed to be under the impression that property-owners regarded the arrears as loans from the city and would be more content than ever that the city should carry the burden of the improvements if the rate of interest was reduced. As a matter of fact the interest penalty is largely a tax upon poverty or on ignorance. If people could borrow money with which to pay their assessments they would gladly do it and save the difference between the commercial and the city's rates. In many cases there would be no arrears at all if the owners of property were promptly advised of the levying of assessments. But it is difficult even for those who know how to obtain information on these matters to keep themselves well posted, for the reason that in the newer sections improvements are being made all the time, and the areas of benefit take in more than the thoroughfares directly affected. An owner who looks carefully after his own interests, paying promptly for improvements in front of his own property, may still find himself in arrears of an assessment for an improvement made elsewhere, which the assessors held benefited his property. Those property-owners who have no knowledge of the system by which assessments are made, or with the sources of knowledge, must be still worse off. Beyond this there is no justice in maintaining an interest penalty made at a time when money was scarcer than it is now, and consequently dearer. When the administration does take up these matters again it is to be hoped that they will give these facts attention and include in their measures of relief a system of notification for the unenlightened.

A QUITE justified feeling of regret is experienced in the Lower West Side that the city declined to accept the bill laying out the block betweeen 27th and 28th streets and 9th and 10th avenues as a public park. This portion of the city contains a large tenement population and has been neglected by the authorities in the matter of parks as in some other things. To-day there is no small park on the West Side between St. John's on Hudson street and that not yet laid out at 54th street and 11th avenue. The claim that one ought to be established between these points is a good one and has been urged persistently for the past five or six years. We recommend those interested, instead of waiting a year until the Legislature meets again, to place it before their local board without delay.

DURING the past week the Tribune has continued its agitation in favor of an extension of the Subway on the East Side, and has printed several significant interviews as to the route from the gentlemen interested in the underground road now under construction. Indeed the freedom and precision with whic Mr. John McDonald and others have expressed their opinions warrants the surmise that perhaps they are not merely taking advantage of the agitation, but have in some measure prompted it; and it is not surprising that he is entirely willing to build and operate the extension on the same conditions as those upon which the existing contract is based. The discussion of the route, however, must precede any discussion of the contract, and upon the matter of the route Mr. McDonald is exceedingly interesting. Without entirely dismissing the idea of 3d avenue, which he would obviously prefer, Mr. McDonald accepts three tracks on Lexington avenue connecting with the East Side line in the Bronx as the most practicable and desirable extension. And Lexington avenue it is likely to be. Madison is too far west, and would not be convenient enough to the vast mass of the population east of the Park, who live on the other side of Lexington; while 3d avenue, besides the obvious objections, due to the existence of the elevated road, is so far east that it would afford little relief to the large and increasing number of people who live in Madison avenue apartment houses and that vicinity. Lexington is much the most available unoccupied avenue, and there is little doubt that in time will be connected north and south with two local and one express tracks. There is some doubt, however, as to the street at which the extension ought to join the main line. It has been assumed hitherto that the East Side extension would naturally begin at 4th avenue and 42d street, but Mr. McDonald is afraid that traffic would be congested, if such a largely increased number of trains were run into the tunnel at that point, and he proposes one of two alternatives: Either continue the West Side line down Broadway to Union Square, where it can join with the East Side line, or else run the East Side branch down Lexington avenue under Grammercy Park and Irving Place to 14th street, at which point it could join the main line. Of these two plans Mr. McDonald prefers the first, and it is indeed obviously the better plan. But it remains to be seen whether property-owners on Broadway will persist in their former objections to the use of that thoroughfare for the purposes of an underground railroad. President Alexander Orr, of the Rapid Transit Commission, is so much encouraged by the success of the Commission in running the Brooklyn tunnel down Broadway from the City Hall that he even looks forward to the time when the first plan of the Commission can be revived, and a subway built from Longacre Square along Broadway to the City Hall. For our own part, we believe that an underground road down 7th avenue from Longacre Square, connecting with the Pennsylvania terminus at 33d street, and reaching the lower wards by means of a good new street cut as a southerly continuation of 6th or 7th avenue, would both be more practicable and more useful. Elm street is so near to Broadway that another parallel route should be laid out further west. However that may be, it is obvious that an East Side extension north of 42d street brings with it as a necessary corollary a West Side extension south of 42d street. The city will need in the end two parallel routes, one on the East and one on the West Side.

The Twenty-Five Foot Tenement.

THEIR BUILDING STILL NOT COMMERCIALLY DESIRABLE.

Judging from conversations had with a number of architects who make the planning of tenements a specialty, the amendments of the Tenement House Law of last year have not greatly improved the prospect for the building of 25-foot tenements, especially not for those of the cheaper grades. While it is conceded that the privileges of carrying the buildings up an additional story, and, where there is a store, of beginning the court at the second tier of beams, are to some extent compensations for part of what was taken away by the law of 1901, it is claimed that above the store it is impossible to plan for more than ten rooms on a floor, and at the same time satisfy the requirements of builders and tenants. According to one architect, it is now, also, impossible to put in a basement store, because the ceiling of such a store would have to be 4½ feet above the sidewalk and would then be counted as one of the six stories permitted.

Thos. P. Neville, of Neville & Bagge, said he thought it likely that the amended law would encourage the building of 6-sty elevator flats on wide lots. Just now building activity was running to hotels and bachelor apartments. A good deal of capital had been diverted from tenements to those classes of building, and that movement would have to run its course before it came back to any kind of tenement. So far as the building of flats and apartments was concerned, the law still impeded it, principally because of its denial of discretion to the administering officials. It was almost impossible to plan upon a multiple of 25x100 and not lose space. If it allowed the equivalents of the specified court areas to be provided, he thought, one of the architects' chief difficulties would be removed. But as to these areas the law was mandatory, and they could obtain no concession. He did not think that many 25-foot flats would be built under the present law unless rents should rise, because no more than ten rooms could be got on a floor, unless one apartment was put in the rear, and in that case front and rear fire escapes were required, and to this there was great objection.

Michael Bernstein thought the amendments of this year would encourage tenement building, though he was not sanguine of its being on 25-foot lots. He it was who said the new requirements practically abolished the basement store, and he added that they would also prevent the construction of janitors' apartments in the basement. That is, the same rule applied to janitors' apartments as to the basement stores.

M. J. Smallheiser, of Sass & Smallheiser, speaking of the downtown East Side section, said they were still advising their clients not to build upon 25-foot lots. He added that the amended law conceded advantages in the additional story, and in allowing a store to run through the builing, but above the store it made no difference. It was still impossible to get a good practicable plan for more than ten rooms on a floor, and such a plan was not commercially desirable. He met the point that plans had been drawn for 25-foot houses with twelve rooms on a floor, by saying that they were drawn by people who did not understand the wants of the East Side tenement population. One of the best of these plans, he pointed out, had in each of the four apartments two bedrooms overlooking either the street or the yard, and the living and largest room looking out into the court. Now the tenant demanded to have either a front or rear view from the living room, and would not have it flanked by a wall. Houses laid out in this way might be built by others, but speculators would not touch them. An owner of a lot who felt compelled to improve would find the additional story and the store a great help. It was possible, too, that uptown two-family houses might be built, but it being impossible to get twelve rooms on a floor, a tenement in the lower East Side, on a 25x100-ft. lot, would not pay from the commercial point of view. Anything from 42 feet up made a convenient size, and could be built commercially under the law.

In reference to Mr. Bernstein's point, that a janitor's apartment cannot be put in the basement, it will be of interest to others to know that an uptown architect has met this by putting one in the rear of the basement, where the surface of the ground is lower than in front.

THE TENEMENT HOUSE LAWS.

The Record and Guide has now on the press a volume edited by Wm. J. Fryer, containing all the laws and regulations concerning tenement houses. In size and character, it will be a companion volume to "The Building Laws of Greater New York," and will contain the alphabetical cross-indexes which have proved so valuable.

The price of the book bound in cloth will be $1.50, and orders may now be sent to the Publication Office, Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., New York City. This will be the standard book on the subject.

Remission or Reduction of Taxes.

Among the measures passed by the last Legislature and signed by the Governor is one, now Chap. 192 of the Laws of 1902, amending Section 897 of the Charter, so as to make it read as follows; new matter is quoted:

Sec. 897. The board of taxes and assessments is hereby invested with power to remit "or reduce" where in the opinion of the corporation counsel lawful cause therefor is shown. It may "remit or" reduce if found excessive "or erroneous" a tax imposed upon real or personal property. It shall require a majority of the commissioners of taxes and assessments to remit "or reduce" the assessed valuation of personal property, and no tax on personal property shall be remitted, "cancelled or reduced" unless the person aggrieved shall satisfy the board of taxes and assessments that illness or absence from the city had prevented the filing of the complaint, or making the application to said board within the time allowed by law for the correction of taxes. Any remission or reduction of taxes upon the real estate of individuals or corporations must be made within "one year" after the delivery of the books to the receiver of taxes for the collection of such tax.

The chief advantages of this measure are, that it gives the Tax Department power to correct their own errors where they had none before, and extends the time when remissions or reductions may be made from six months to one year. The chief sufferers by the old law were the owners of small properties, who could not afford to apply to the courts for correction of their taxes, or where the amount involved was too small to warrant incurring of legal expenses. Of course, it was an injustice that any one should be compelled to go to law to obtain relief from the consequences of a mistake of the department, especially as the latter were always ready to admit the errors they made, and the act is, therefore, a distinct benefit to all parties.

Apartment House "Centrals."

By Ernest Flagg, Architect.

In these days of the almost universal use of the telephone, it is remarkable that in the preparations of designs for great hotels, apartment houses, and business structures, practically no attention appears to be paid to the provision of suitable locations for the central telephone exchange and for the telephone booths for the use of the general public. It would be easy to mention scores of the finest buildings in New York and in other great cities in which the telephones are stowed away in obscure corners, frequently inaccessible, dark, and ill-ventilated, to the great inconvenience of those who have occasion frequently to use them.

Apparently in the designing of these structures no thought has been given to the important detail of providing telephone accommodations, and on their completion almost any unoccupied corner has been regarded as good enough for the purpose. Even in some of the office and apartment buildings most recently erected, in which every suite of rooms is equipped with a telephone, no adequate accommodations are provided for the public telephone office. Such offices should be provided for in the plans, and care should be taken so to locate them that they shall be easy of access, well lighted and ventilated, and shall present no difficulties in making the necessary wire connections. Attention to these details of construction will generally result in a considerable ultimate saving of expense and trouble, and will add materially to the convenience of tenants and others.

West End Affairs.

The West End Association, at their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening last, admitted 28 new members, a proof not only of the value of the association, but also of the interest that is taken in West Side affairs by owners and residents of the section affected.

Cyrus Clark, President, was in the chair, and the association disposed of a good deal of business. Messrs. Pumpelly, Aldrich, Buek, Houghton and Lawson were appointed a committee to advocate the ordinance amending Section 144 of the Building Code, which relates to advertising signs, introduced into the Board of Aldermen by Alderman Ware. A resolution was adopted requesting the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to abolish sinecures and reduce expenditures as far as practicable in order to reduce the tax rate. On motion of Mr. Brower it was resolved to request the Borough President to remove all abandoned lamp-posts.

The Rev. Dr. Baker, representing the Morningside and Riverside Heights' Association, addressed the meeting with reference to a reconsideration by this association and perhaps a modification of its position relative to a dump foot of 96th st. On motion of Mr. Wilmot, amended by C. J. G. Hall, the matter was referred to the Committee on Legislation, Law and Schools, to report at the October meeting.

On motion of Mr. Doyle, the matter of garbage crematories was made a special order of business for the May meeting.

The Committee on Grievances, among other matters, reported calling attention to the street-sign-lamp that had been put up at 45th st by C. M. Becker. This appeared to the committee to be better and cheaper than those prepared for the association, and the committee recommended the association to advocate its adoption.

Minor Improvements.

WORK OF SECURING APPROVAL OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES TO BE DONE OVER AGAIN.

Below will be found a list of improvements that were in the late Municipal Assembly and died with that body. These several matters can be revived by application to the proper local boards. There were other improvements that had got as far as the old Board of Estimate, of which the Record and Guide has been unable to obtain a list. There were some that even got farther than that, of which the following letter contains an instance, and of which the interested property-owners have no decided information. In cases where it is still desired to have the work done, parties in interest will probably save time by petitioning their local boards therefor. Where the facts are ascertainable, as in the case of 139th st, between Lenox and 7th avs, given in the letter, the petition might recite them, and pray that it be taken up again at whatever point it reached under the old administration.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

During the month of April, 1901, we headed a list of property-owners on the south side of 139th st, from Lenox to 7th av, in a petition to the President of the Local Board of Improvements of this Borough (Manhattan) for the paving of this street, which was curbed in the early part of 1900; bear in mind, this street has never been paved.

It required considerable time to get out of their hands, and went to the Municipal Council, and it took till Oct. 8, 1901, for this resolution to be adopted; the same resolution was approved by the Board of Aldermen Oct. 22, 1901. Mayor Van Wyck signed the resolution Oct. 29th; from that time until about Dec. 13, 1901, it remained in Commissioner Keating's hands, when he apparently had the contract for the paving of this street awarded.

We continually looked through the Record and Guide to see its publication, and failed to see it. We saw in the public press things being said about all contracts being thrown out, and new ones to be considered. We therefore made inquiries this month in the City Hall, and we are told that our resolution, approved and adopted by the Municipal Council, Aldermen, Local Board, and signed by the Mayor, will not be considered, and that it is necessary, if we desire to have our street paved (which is of no expense whatever to the city, as each piece of property is assessed for this work) to renew the petition, and go over the same work that we did last year.

Bills Returned to Albany.

Mayor Low has returned to Albany disapproved the bill to make assessments in the boroughs of the Bronx, Queens and Richmond, payable in ten annual instalments; that to make interest on unpaid assessments, confirmed after Jan. 1, 1902, six per cent.; that to establish Hamilton Park, in the block at 27th and 28th sts, 9th and 10th avs; that to give the Brooklyn Chapter of the American Institute of Architects representation on the Board of Examiners; that to amend the charter by relieving the Dock Department of the necessity for attempting to agree with owners of land required for the Bloomfield to 23d st improvement before instituting condemnation proceedings, allowing them to take title at any time after the filing of the oaths of commissioners, and giving them power to deal with street railways now operating on any thoroughfare affected by this improvement.

The Mayor approved the Apgar bill, providing for the change of motive power in the Park av tunnel from steam to electricity or some other acceptable power, and the bill confirming to the Hudson River canal boats from March 20th to December 31st of each year, the piers on the North River water front between the north side of West 51st st and the south side of West 54th st, both inclusive; also the bill authorizing an appropriation of $500,000 for a new hospital in The Bronx. The last named bill, however, is said to have been mislaid somewhere between New York and Albany, and that unless it is recovered the Governor will not be able to act upon the measure.

The present proprietors of the hotel hold a lease for another year and a half, and the syndicate is experiencing some trouble in securing this lease. The World of Building Material Market.

The damp and cloudy weather prevailing during the early part of the week has not had any noteworthy effect on the progress of building construction in and about Manhattan. The hardihood of the American builder is only equalled by his skill, whether it be in steel construction, masonry, bricklaying or painting. He only hesitates when the weather interferes with the exactness and permanence of his work.

The demand for the staple building materials is daily increasing, and it is not surprising that they are advancing as supplies become doubtful.

IRON AND STEEL.

Pig iron being the base of all forms of iron and steel, its fluctuations in price are far-reaching. For the time being the prices remain firm. On the metal exchange there appears to be no activity in buying for future delivery, it being supposed that many consumers are covered until winter.

We learn from Pittsburg that Bessemer is in demand. One order alone is expected to be placed shortly for 90,000 tons for the building of a shipbuilding plant at Collingwood, Ontario. Furnaces are asking $18 at valley furnace for Bessemer.

The best grades of muck bar are selling at $32.50@$33.00, delivered at Pittsburg. Structural shapes and rails are sold in many instances for a year ahead, and merchants are not seeking orders because, as they say, it is impossible to get the material.

The demand for old iron and steel is ever active, and prices high but variable; $22 to $26 per gross ton is asked for lots of foreign Tees in New York and Philadelphia. These prices, however, are thought to be too high by the buyers at present.

New York shipped during the past week for Australia, by the steamship "S. Filians," 2,031 tons wire, 135 tons nails, 18 tons steel and 22 tons iron pipe. By the steamship "Buerama," 127 tons steel plates. By the "Hafist," 20 tons wire and 53 tons railroad material.

Other recent shipments are 232 tons iron pipe, 20 tons wire, 28 tons zinc dross, and 27 tons zinc ashes to Liverpool by the "Georgia;" 147 tons zinc oxide and 13 tons steel to London by the "Maniton;" 89 tons nails and 55 tons wire to Japan and China by the "Spithead;" 45 tons structural steel to Cuba by the "Saratoga;" 97 tons wire and 14 tons steel to South Africa by the "Clan Maeregor;" 130 tons railroad material and 30 tons wire to Buenos Ayres by the "Italian Prince."

The New York Central Railroad has given a contract to the Pittsburg Construction Co. for a bridge over the Erie Canal, at Lockport, N. Y.

In New York this week Andrew Carnegie met W. N. Frew, president of the Board of Trustees of the Carnegie Institute, and urged the building of the polytechnic school in connection with the institute.

TIN, LEAD, ETC.

Pig tin advanced in sympathy with the London market on Monday last one dollar per ton, but the active demand bringing the advance about did not last, and prices are declining again while the market generally is dull.

Copper is quiet, and fluctuations not interesting one way or the other.

Lead is also dull. Prices quoted for desilverized in 50-ton lots is 4.10c. per lb. The demand for spelter is strong, and prices firm at 4.45c.

The arrivals of tin and black plate last week were: New York, 14,581 boxes; Philadelphia, 12,245 boxes; Baltimore, 180 boxes.

The Amalgamation of Copper directors will meet April 17. Mr. H. H. Rogers says that the dividend to be declared will not exceed one per cent., and that it is quite possible that it may be passed altogether.

The Board of Managers of the New York Metal Exchange announce standing committees for the ensuing financial year as follows: Executive, Adolph Lewisohn, Chairman; H. H. Hendricks and Wm. Jay Ives; finance, L. Nachmann, chairman, B. Hochchild and Geo. W. Jaques; law, J. H. Lobdell, chairman, Wm. Jay Ives and B. Hochschild; floor, C. S. Trench, chairman, L. Nachmann, and C. Mayer, secretary; warehouse, B. Hochschild, chairman, S. A. Jennings, S. H. Bolles, Jr., J. H. Lang and Robt. Gentle; trade, C. S. Trench, chairman, L. Nachmann, E. A. Caswell, L. Vogelstein and C. Mayer; pig iron, G. H. Hull, chairman, James E. Pope, Jr., and Thos. W. Stiles; pig tin, B. Hochschild, chairman, L. Nachmann and C. S. Trench; copper, Jesse Lewisohn, chairman, B. Hochschild and L. Nachmann; lead, J. H. Lang, chairman, E. A. Caswell and Frank H. Davol; spelter, G. E. Behr, chairman, W. Fisher and L. Vogelstein; quotations, Edmund Hendricks, chairman, Jesse Lewisohn, C. S. Trench, J. Langloth and C. Mayer, secretary.

WINDOW GLASS.

Mr. Harry Holbrook, the secretary of the Glass Jobbers' Association, informs us that the members of the association met for business at their rooms in the Wool Exchange this week, as announced in our last issue. The proceedings covered Tuesday and Wednesday, and were of a lively nature, resulting finally in a reduction of prices 13 per cent., and the placing of an order for half a million boxes. Even those immediately interested did not expect more than 10 per cent. advance, but the manufacturers are satisfied and the jobbers well pleased. Mr. Holbrook says that still another advance may be expected very shortly.

Business is brisk, and it is not expected that the increased prices or reduced discounts will make any material difference in the demand.

BRICK.

There are no prospects of advanced prices for common brick, although the demand is very brisk. Manufacturers and dealers are paying particular attention to supplies and do not expect that there will be any difficulty in meeting requirements of consumers.

Mr. W. K. Hammond, the indefatigable secretary of the Brickmakers' Association, says that manufacturers will produce better material than ever in the near future. Attention is being paid to machinery and base materials, and great results may be expected.

The dinner of the association to the officers is expected to be given about the 23d inst.

LUMBER.

The demand generally is good, but prices remain generally firm, and as these are considered high by consumers, it may be understood that they buy only what they need. There is a scarcity still of Eastern spruce, notwithstanding recent arrivals, and prices are not affected in lumber. Lath is plentiful, however, and prices are somewhat lower. Hemlock is still firm at $16 base. Yellow and North Carolina pine are being well sought after at firm prices. The demand for poplar, oak and ash is strong, and prices are inclined to advance. The high prices asked for white pine keep orders in the background.

The fire underwriters of St. Louis have favored the decision to use hardwood timber in the construction of framework in place of steel uprights and girders as being less dangerous.

PAINTS AND OILS.

Paint dealers have been unusually busy during the past month. Manufacturers have large stocks in anticipation of the rush of orders expected for the summer trade. The demand for linseed oil is so brisk that dealers look for an advance daily, but up to time of going to press none has been announced.

Product and Appliances.

We do not think General Sooysmith need be seriously alarmed about the disintegration of steel. The British Admiralty believe they have discovered a solution of the difficulty in a chemical composition which has been tested on battleships in form of paint. This is called Hydrofugol, and is said to be absolutely impervious to the action of acids or gases which produce corrosion.

An interesting booklet has been published by the inventor of the revolving door, Mr. T. Van Kannel. The book is entitled "Doors; Their Evolution," and gives the history of doors from the beginning. The trap door of the spider, the door of the cave-dweller, the door of the Esquimaux's rude hut, the hinged door of Indian's tent or the early pioneer's cabin, and the doors of modern times, are interestingly described and artistically illustrated.

A new machine for polishing plate glass has been patented by William Lahodny. The necessity of ponderous machinery to perform such a delicate operation as the polishing of plate glass surrounds invention of such machinery with unusual interest.

The Fire Underwriters of Philadelphia have decided that wire glass windows are far superior as a protection against flames than iron shutters. Their recent investigation of the fire hazard, in conjunction with representatives of the National Board of Fire Underwriters and the National Fire Protective Association, has necessitated many improvements in the building construction in the heart of the Quaker City.

One of the most important alterations to be made is in the windows of the big store of Lit Bros., at 8th and Filbert sts. The iron shutters on one entire side of the building are condemned, while wire glass windows in metal sashes are ordered instead. This particular side is very near an adjoining building and increases the danger of fire, hence the order for wire glass windows.

An investigation which took place at Paterson on the protection afforded the Bank Building by its wire glass windows has resulted in the other banks ordering wire glass windows in their reconstruction. Other buildings are doing likewise.

The General Fireproofing Co. has arranged for its plant at Crab Creek, on the Lake Shore Railroad. The company is capitalized at $500,000, and will employ 600 men.

Louis Kauffeld claims to have re-discovered the lost art of making malleable glass. It is also claimed that Kauffeld can make glass which will stand much greater heat than is at present possible with glass. His process is said to be entirely new, and that he expects to revolutionize the glass trade. It is even said that cooking utensils and stoves can be made out of the new product, and in the near future we may be able to throw stones at glass houses.

The recent fire and water tests of the Rader system of hollow plaster partitions by the Bureau of Buildings proved them to be a desirable addition to the list of fire retardants for building construction.

These blocks are composed of plaster of Paris, steam coal cinders and a secret chemical compound, and are made in two thicknesses, 2½ and 2¾ inches. They are 24 inches long and 18 broad.

Mr. W. A. Anderson, of the Underwriters' Bureau, is keeping close watch on wood which is being incorporated in the construction of at least one very prominent building in New York at present, which is not fireproofed as ordered and charged for. Although the wood is supposed to be fireproofed by an alleged chemical process, it has been found as combustible as ordinary firewood. It is not the Electric process. That is too scientific and thorough to ever disappoint, as is well known to those who understand the subject. Mr. Anderson is reticent at present, but disclosures may be expected shortly.

At last the Hardware Trust is to be a certainty. The capitalization is to be $120,000,000, and it will be one of the largest mercantile combinations in the world. The financiers are Moore & Schley, of New York, and George B. Hill & Co., of Pittsburg. It is to be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey; $40,000,000 of the stock is to be preferred and $80,000,000 common.

The general headquarters of the Trust will be at St. Louis. Nine gentlemen who are the Eastern members of the executive committe will have charge of the auditing and insurance of the company, with direction of the business in New York, New England, Pennsylvania and Maryland, with their offices in New York.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th—The figures in each conveyance, thus, $2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.000.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

April 4. 5, 7, 8, 9, 10.

Editor of Record and Guide:

The lien this day filed by M. Abbott's Sons against Josephine Coggeshall, owner, and The Jones Construction Company, contractors, for $1,082.77, on the premises No. 1 East 40th street, is not a just and valid lien, as nothing is due M. Abbott's Sons in connection with said premises. On the contrary, these people are indebted to The Jones Construction Company in a large sum, for which an action was commenced last month.

Henry L. Brant,
Attorney for The Jones Construction Co.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

Vol. LXIX. APRIL 19, 1902. No. 1779

THERE is considerably better feeling in the Stock Market and public interest in stock speculation has grown considerably, though the bulk of the operations continues to be professional. What threatened a serious menace to values, the Louisville and Nashville matter, has finally settled down into a benefit to the situation, because the control of the L. & N. property by interests friendly to Southern Railway insures peace in another large and distinct area of railroad operations. If ever the true story of this operation is made public, it will most probably be found that the prime mover in it intended originally only a speculative turn on the long side of the stock and suddenly found himself in possession of a good thing, but one rather troublesome to keep. He would know that the friends of Southern Railway, as a matter of policy, must hold a considerable amount of Louisville, and it was easy to place with them on satisfactory terms a further amount that would give them control. While control of the two properties is now in the same hands, there is no prospect of a merger so long as the Northern Securities suit is undecided, and there are reasons for believing that it would be even more difficult to consolidate competing roads in the South than elsewhere. A case in point is Georgia Central which though actually owned by Southern Railway is technically owned by a trust company, because of the laws of Georgia which forbid the control or operation of one competing road by another. Still the final disposition of this exciting matter is one that makes for harmony in the Southeast, and practically leaves the Southwest as the only section of the country where the existing conditions are not insured by something more practically effective than a mere harmonious understanding, which has hitherto proved to be unreliable in times of poor business. A decision confirming the legality of the security holding company would doubtless be followed by a general movement in the direction of consolidation through similar agencies. The effort of such a movement would, undoubtedly, be to put railroad investments on an enduring stable basis. While Wall Street has been excited by recent events, the other centers of business and speculation have continued on an even course of activity and prosperity, and this so sustains values in the Stock Market that securities are hard to buy and dangerous to sell when delivery of the goods cannot be arranged for in advance.

WHEN the British Government determined not to wait for the determination of the Boer conference, but to issue their new loan this week they cast a doubt upon the prospect for early peace in South Africa, but they distinctly proved their credit with the capital of two continents. The new loan makes $460,000,000 borrowed in one year. It is a great success both in New York and London, in spite of the fact that the subscribers to the issue of last April have had but small opportunity for making a dollar by resales. The price of that issue was 94½, and since its subscription quotations have ranged more, and for a much longer period in the aggregate below than above that figure. The issue at 93½ ought to give better results, because money for such investments is much more plentiful than it was a year ago, and because it is doubtful if another issue will be needed for a long time to come and the market therefore knows what it has to digest. The rejected proposal of Holland being followed by a conference of Boer leaders on their own initiative indicates the lay of the situation in South Africa, but the movements of South African securities in the markets do not indicate that the undercurrents of information are favorable to an immediate suspension of operations in the field. The official announcement of this fact is sure to be preceeded by an upward movement in Rand shares, which have on the whole been dull despite the nature of the dispatches. Taking them as the barometer of events, it may be said that the situation is a hopeful one only. European business is improving somewhat and more interest is taken in American securities, though this interest is said to be confined almost wholly to speculators. Owing to the prospective renewal of electric railroad construction. Copper comes in for a good deal of attention and some remarks are made on Amalgamated which serve to explain this week's and prior reductions in dividends. These remarks are from "The Economist," London and are: "Within the past few weeks the Amalgamated Company has had to fulfil its sale contracts, and as the deliveries both in the States and in Europe have increased to a substantial extent, it has found great difficulty in getting standard brands, and has, in fact, not only had to witness a decline to about 12c. in Lake and electrolytic copper, but has lately had to exchange electrolytic for standard at a premium of about 5s. per ton on the latter, whereas the usual margin has been from £5 to £6 per ton. . . . If an utter collapse is to be averted it will only be by the admission of the Heinz group of producers upon, to them, very much more satisfactory conditions than they would have been required to accept a few months ago."

The Rectification of the Street System of Manhattan.

THE cities of New York and Paris are strongly contrasted in many ways, but in no respect are they more completely contrasted than in the comparative activity and efficiency of the interests which make for public improvements on the one hand and private improvements on the other. In Paris every New Yorker must immediately notice how much less private building there is underway. Not only is this true in the newer sections of the city, but it is even more true of the older parts that are already built up. Not a tithe of the reconstruction which is constantly taking place in New York is to be noticed on the Paris streets, and were it not for the new streets through which the municipality is constantly opening up through old blocks, there would be almost none at all. On the other hand public improvements of all kind are consummated with a celerity and an economy of which New York cannot offer no parallel. New York because of its expanding population, and its general unfinished condition, actually needs these public improvements even more than Paris does, but instead of anticipating the needs of its population in that respect, or even keeping pace with them, the city of New York lags far behind the most palyable and urgent necessities of its growing population. The lively and continuous activity of reconstruction which are carried on by private interests are not paralleled by any corresponding and supplementary plans of reconstruction by the public authorities, so as to adapt the street system to ever changing and augmenting demands of the city traffic.

During the period of the second Empire, Paris underwent a drastic process of what has since been called Hausmannization. It consisted of running wide streets and boulevards through the crowded and congested parts of the old city, and providing for a free circulation of traffic and population. The consequence is that the enormous traffic on the Paris streets moves about with a freedom which is unknown in New York and London. The congestion of 'busses and cabs which makes a trip to the "City" in London, frequently so slow and irritating a business, the congestion of carriages, trucks and cars which makes such crossways as the corner of 5th ave. and 42d st. in New York, an almost intolerable impediment to business and traffic is unknown in Paris, and yet that city is not satisfied. It has recently decided to open an important new street running from Rue de Rennes to the Seine, coming out near the Pont Neuf. This street, although needed is not needed anything like as badly as many similar improvements are in New York. Yet here plans for rectification, in details, such as the prolongation of Madison ave. to Broadway, or that of cutting a broad avenue south of 14th st. and west of Broadway, are talked of but left untouched for years. And when an attempt is made to consummate an important street improvement, it is so badly managed that it becomes a burdensome expense, both to the city and property owners.

It is hard to make people realize into what an intolerable condition of things New York is drifting. Her street system, which was execrably planned in the beginning, is distined to be put to a strain more severe than that of any other city in the world. Buildings from ten to twenty stories in height are being erected along the whole central ridge of Manhattan Island, and upon streets that inadequately provided for the traffic needs of a much less dense arrangement of population and business. These buildings tend both to increase the traffic and still more to increase the expense of providing additional room for its accommodation. At the same time tunnels and bridges are being or will be constructed to Brooklyn, Queens, the Bronx and New Jersey, which will in the course of time very much augment the pressure of traffic on the Manhattan streets. Take, for instance, three of the most important of these transit improvements. The Williamsburg Bridge is now planned to terminate some blocks from the Bowery in a nest of narrow little streets, totally unfit to accommodate the traffic which the bridge will develop. Yet while various schemes of street widening and extension have been considered, nothing is being accomplished, and it is improbable anything will be, until after the bridge is completed, and property thereabouts increased in value. Again, the improvements to the Central terminus at 42d st. will in the course of time enormously increase the traffic concentrating at that point. Forty-second st. is already wretchedly congested, and in a few years from now the congestion will have become as intolerable and as apparently irremediable as is at present the condition of the Brooklyn Bridge. Finally the same remarks apply to the neighborhood of the new terminus of the Pennsylvania road. A provident city would arrange necessary immediate changes in the inadequate street system at that point, and not wait until property was still further increased in value. Moreover the general effect of the new tunnels and bridges upon the traffic situation will be to increase the strain on a street system already breaking down. The result will be in the end that Manhattan will not gain half as much from these transit improvements as it might, for while the population will be distributed, business will be so much hampered by congestion of traffic on the island that it also will tend, whenever possible, to move to local centers across the various rivers that enclose the island on three sides.

The present administration can in no way bestow a more lasting benefit upon the city than by taking up seriously the rectification of the street system of Manhattan. In order to awaken public opinion to the needs of the situation, a commission should be appointed for the purpose of considering the whole question in all its aspects. The duties of such a commission should be, not only to investigate the present and probable centers of congestion, and to prepare plans for the renovation of the street system in the interests both of efficiency and good looks, but they should also try to devise an acceptable legal and financial plan for the carrying out of any such plan. For the present methods have utterly broken down and are entirely inadequate to provide even for the little piecemeal improvements which are occasionally suggested. We have no hesitation in saying that the lack of such a plan and the impossibility under present circumstances of consummating the street widenings and extensions, and rectifications without the utmost delay and the maximum expense is the greatest of all threats to the future prosperity of Manhattan Island.

IT cannot be said that the ambitious and far-reaching plans of the late Cecil Rhodes looking toward the tightening of the racial bonds between the two branches of the English-speaking peoples have been received on this side with much approval or even with a very vital interest. Americans are much more alive to the fact than the English that their country has been from the beginning settled by people of many different bloods, and that the close alliance between the United States and England in language and legal tradition is not a sufficient basis for a political alliance based upon race. Nationalities, it must never be forgotten, are not founded upon a blood bond. All the European nations of the present day are made up of people of composite blood. Nations are rather the product of traditions and common political and social purposes; the bonds are historical and ideal, not racial, and a political alliance between nations must be based chiefly upon joint interests. There could be no greater misfortune to civilization than a serious and settled belief on the point of different races, such as the Anglo-Saxons, the Germans, or the Slavs, that their particular blood was essentially superior and must obtain world supremacy. Racial bonds, unlike those of nationality, are mutually exclusive, and racial supremacy could only be maintained by constant warfare, and would engender the most embittered and irreconcilable popular antagonisms. The United States is unquestionably much more likely to act in international affairs harmoniously with England than with any other European Power; but the Americans who expect such joint international action and believe in it should protest strenuously against basing it on any ground except joint interest. The ideal of an Anglo-Saxon racial alliance and supremacy is an impossible and baleful ideal, which could in the end result only in the counter-alliance of the other civilized powers against the dangerous predominance of one people. It seems very probably, furthermore, that the late Mr. Rhodes' generous provision for securing a better understanding between English and Americans by founding scholarships at Oxford for the benefit of American students will fail of its purpose. Not that there will not be easily found two young men from every State in the Union who will jump at the chance of earning $1,500 by playing cricket and studying the classics at Oxford. But it may be doubted whether these young men will represent the highest grade of American devotion to intellectual work. Our students have flocked to the German universities because they can get in the seminaries for advanced work the kind of special knowledge and method which they need. Oxford turns out men well adapted for the practical duties of English life, but it does not turn out scholars and scientific investigators. American students know this; and they are likely to go to England for the $1,500 per annum rather than out of any craving for the arts and sciences as taught at Oxford.

DO the people who are working themselves into a condition of excitement over bill-boards and sky-signs quite know what they are talking about? The impression gathered from reading the daily papers is that a crusade has been begun to abolish these things; whereas, the fact is that the borough officers are simply endeavoring to amend the regulations under which they may be erected with the view of mitigating their size and consequently their ugliness. As the ordinances stand to-day, there is no restriction on the height of metal fences or roofs, or sky signs; wooden fences may not exceed 10 feet in height and wooden signs on buildings not more than 2 feet. A metal sign on a wooden frame is considered a wooden sign. The proposed ordinance would limit the height of fences and wooden surface signs or bill-boards to 10 feet above the surface of the adjoining ground, and metal ones or metal covered wooden ones to 16 feet. It defines "sky" signs as: "Any letter, word, model, sign, device or representation in the nature of an advertisement, announcement or direction supported or attached, wholly or in part, above any wall, building or structure which shall be visible wholly or in part against the sky from any point in the street or ground below." The ordinance provides that all sky signs shall be constructed entirely of metal, including the uprights, supports and braces for the same; that they shall not project beyond the building line; that they shall not be at any point over 10 feet above the wall or building, etc., to which they are attached or by which supported; that they shall be properly secured, etc. It further provides that before any fence, bill-board or sky sign is erected a permit therefore shall be obtained from the Superintendent of Buildings having jurisdiction; application for permit is to be accompanied by written consent of owners, statement of location, materials and dimensions. The ordinance does not give any authority to the Superintendent of Buildings to refuse a permit for a fence, bill-board or sign on aesthetic grounds, which is very proper for the reason that the incumbency of the office is a changing thing and not always accompanied by fine artistic taste; further it makes no provision for consent of his representative in the absence of the owner; nor for the rights of a long-term lessee in the premises. Corporation Counsel Rives has given an opinion to the effect that the ordinance, if passed, would be an unwarranted interference with owner's rights to make his building as ugly as he pleases. Property owners will, doubtless, be glad to learn of this privilege, so very little is left to them nowadays under interpretations of law and police powers, that a right to be ugly even may be esteemed. Meantime the suggested ordinance itself is slumbering peacefully in the Committee on Buildings of the Board of Aldermen, where it has reposed since the day it was introduced into the Board by Alderman Ware on March 11.

A PRACTICABLE legal machinery has been provided by the Legislature, which will help the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to obtain the tunnel franchise it wants, and which will also enable the city to obtain a fair price for the privileges granted. The reference of the whole matter to the Rapid Transit Commission puts the city's side of the negotiation in the hands of the public authorities, who are most competent to conduct them. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment is an overworked body. It serves the city well, but it has quite enough to do in attending to its routine duties under the new charter, and from pressure of work is frequently obliged to hold over important business which press for settlement. The Board of Aldermen, the only other body which might have taken a hand in the negotiations, is wholly unfitted to decide details of difficult, technical and economic problems. It has done nothing as yet to deserve the additional powers bestowed upon it by the revised charter, and its actions are regarded with suspicion rather than with confidence by the public. To hand the negotiations over to the Rapid Transit Commission means, as the Mayor has pointed out, a considerable increase of its jurisdiction and powers; but it is a departure in line with good principles of administration. Abroad such negotiations would be conducted by a rapid transit committee of the local legislative body. In New York, however, the members elected to the Board of Aldermen do not stand well enough in the community to be entrusted with such delicate and responsible business; executive work must be performed by commissions and boards whose members directly or indirectly represent a larger body of voters. The Rapid Transit Commission is such an executive body, and it will act on the business promptly and conservatively. The Board of Aldermen retains its usual right of veto, which is the only power it can safely exercise. It must limit its actions to a simple affirmative or negative, and, as it would scarcely dare to defeat so beneficial an improvement unless it felt sure of the support of public opinion, it can scarcely avoid giving its acquiescence. One cannot help wondering after much experience of the decadence of legislative bodies in this country, whether they will not tend to become, like the German Reichstag, or the New York Board of Aldermen, merely bodies that possess the rights of discussion and veto, without any rights of initiative. At Albany legislation originates either with the Governor, the party machine, the local municipalities, or private interests. The Legislature merely registers or blocks the will of these more vigorous and capable people.

The Real Estate Situation

Important Sales on Fifth Avenue.

The most interesting news announced during the week have been a number of sales in the middle and upper regions of 5th ave. Of these the most important of all, but by no means the newest, is the purchase by a syndicate, with R. M. Montgomery as its head, of the Paran Stevens property at 44th st. and 5th ave. This purchase was announced some two months ago in the Record and Guide, but as fuller details are now given, it assumes greater interest. It is stated that a hotel is to be erected on the plot, and it has manifest advantages for such a purpose. The corner is perhaps the very best site remaining on 5th ave. for an ambitious hotel. It is central, convenient, surrounded by the most important existing clubs and restaurants in the city, and its light is secured on a third side by a church. Consequently it may be expected that the plan as announced will be carried through more promptly than any other schemes of the kind. Another important 5th ave. parcel, which was purchased about a year ago, has been resold to a construction company. This is the southwest corner of that avenue and 55th st., which will be improved with an eighteen-story apartment hotel. Two other unimproved lower 5th ave. corners have been sold during the past year—one on 37th st. and one on 19th st, but there are no signs of immediate building. Probably the corner of 44th st, which is the best of them all for the purpose will be used sometime within a year as a hotel site. There is no chance, however, of its immediate erection, because it is practically impossible at the present time to secure the structural steel for delivery any time within the next six months, and this fact will put a quietus on the erection of fireproof buildings, except in those cases in which the steel has been already contracted for. Assuming, however, that the building will be started sometime within a year, it will help toward making the line of 42d st. or thereabouts the particular center of hotels. For in addition to those already on or near the street, there are at the present time three, huge fireproof hotels in the course of erection (leaving out apartment hotels) in that vicinity. As against this, the Hotel Bristol on the corner of 42d st. and 5th ave. is to be altered into a business building, and it is a fortunate thing that a new and taller building is not to take its place, for a skyscraper on that corner would have been a bad architectural neighbor to the new Public Library. Other sales on 5th ave., which may be mentioned are Nos. 428 and 430, between 38th and 39th sts., and two of the new six story and basement fireproof dwellings, which George C. Edgar's Sons have been erecting on 5th av. These residences are the first ones sold of the large number of expensive dwellings, which speculative builders have been erecting east of Central Park. There are a large number of these houses on the market just now, and it will be interesting to see how readily they will be sold. There is undoubtedly still a very active demand for expensive residences east of the park, but the supply has apparently gone somewhat beyond it. South of 59th, along the lines of 5th and Madison aves., the demand is even stronger and takes readily everything which has been offered at a fair price. It is noticeable, however, that there is a manifest diminution in the number of those operations stated this year compared to those started the year before, which will give the builder's another year or more in which to sell their recent constructions.

SUITS are to be begun against the street railway companies to recover about $1,000,000 arrears of license fees and amounts due for paving tracks, etc. This is only right. If measures are to be taken against the small property owner for small arrears of taxes and assessments, it is certainly proper that the city should force the rich railroad companies whose mililons distributed annually in dividends come from their public privileges, to at least meet their debts honestly.

An East Side Subway.

The property interests of the whole East Side, north of 60th st., is naturally showing a lively interest in the agitation now underway for an east side tunnel. These property owners understand that the Subway as planned at present will place them under manifest disadvantages compared to the West Side property owners; and they want to have these conditions equalized as soon as possible. It is entirely right that they should make this demand. The one really stubborn obstacle in the way is the constitutional debt limit, and East Side property owners should realize that there and there only is the enemy. Although that debt limit is, considering the existing engagements for the issuing of new bonded debts an absolute bar to the improvement, it need not stand in the way of doing the preliminary work. The agitation in favor of the extension has gathered sufficient headway to justify the Rapid Transit in going ahead with that work. When once a plan has been prepared, and has been accepted both by public opinion and the interested property owners, the demand for the early construction of the tunnel will become strong enough to help considerably the movement for an expansion of the debt limit. The best way to make people feel how disastrous is the restriction which that limit puts upon needed and remunerative public improvements is to get a number of influential people very much interested in some particular plan which is blocked by that debt limit. In this way, public opinion, which is always lethargic about such fiscal arrangements, will be aroused to the importance of doing away with this insuperable obstacle to any proper provision for the future growth of the city. In connection with this East Side extension it is interesting to observe that the Municipal Council of Paris, is so well pleased with the success and the profitableness of its existing underground road, that it has adopted plans for four new metropolitan railway lines. The first, a little more than four miles long with seventeen stations, will run from east to west along the Boulevard de Courcelles to the Place Gambetta, and is to cost $3,120,000; the second, a little more than seven miles long, will run from the Port de Clignancourt to the Port d'Orleans, and will cost including the prolongation of two important streets, about $16,200,000; the other two are shorter and run through outlying districts. The total expenditure authorized is $25,400,000. The extensions are justified in Paris, because they will be remunerative investment to the city as well as a benefit to its inhabitants; and it is absurd that here in New York, which stands to profit still more largely by an immediate extension of its Subway system, nothing can be done because of an antiquated and unscientific restriction upon the borrowing power of the city.

THE TENEMENT HOUSE LAWS.

The Record and Guide has now on the press a volume edited by Wm. J. Fryer, containing all the laws and regulations concerning tenement houses. In size and character, it will be a companion volume to "The Building Laws of Greater New York," and will contain the alphabetical cross-indexes which have proved so valuable.

The price of the book bound in cloth will be $1.50, and orders may now be sent to the Publication Office, Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., New York City. This will be the standard book on the subject.

A Phase of the Situation.

THE BUYING MOVEMENT BETWEEN PARK AND LEXINGTON AVENUE.

The buying that has been going on in the side streets between Park and Lexington avs, during the past half year, may be said to be a reflection of the movement that advanced values so materially in the side streets between Park and 5th avs. The character of the property subject to the two movements varies very considerably, but the theory underlying the operation is the same, namely, the need of expansion of the better classes of residence sections. There is an appreciable limit to such a movement as that on 5th av, but not to one that has the merely moderately wealthly public in view as the support and ultimate owners of residence property.

It is to this class that the movement east of Park av will appeal, and the ultimate result is likely to be a transformation into forms of improvement that will duplicate the average of the West Side dwelling development. This idea suggests the continuation of the speculative buying as the circumstances warrant, and the final lodgment of the improved property in investors' hands. The process is known and quite natural, and has been repeated over and over again in this city. The prosperity that has created so many large fortunes must have created many more smaller ones, and it is this fact which must give the movement under review its success.

That a hopeful view of the situation is taken by well posted real estate men was shown by a conversation had this week with John J. Kavanagh, who took a favorable view of the outlook, and alluded to the fact that so many parcels had recently been bought and sold, several, and in one instance five times before title had passed, as proving the genuineness of the speculation. The home buyer has made his appearance to some extent, and may be relied upon to appear in force later and clinch matters.

Speaking in his office, on 79th st and Madison av, a man might very well be cheerful on the prospects of Manhattan realty, for across the street there was a busy gang of men working on the foundations for J. C. Lyon's new dwellings, that are, with the Stuyvesant Fish house, to complete the improvement of the Madison av front of the Cook block, between 78th and 79th sts, and which is part of the greater movement which is being reflected a little further east.

One of the influences at work producing this demand is undoubtedly the unhousing of so many well-to-do families by the New York Central through its purchase of a strip 75 feet wide on the west side of Park av, from 49th st to 56th st, and the residence blocks on the east side of the same avenue, between 45th and 47th sts. Brokers higher uptown report inquiries from this part of the town for dwellings. This is entirely natural, for so many of the dispossessed and those who are yet to vacate are substantial people who have lived in their own houses for many years that a reinvestment for the same purpose may be naturally expected. This demand gives the movement more substance than merely speculative buying could do, though everywhere speculative buying has usually preceded either settlement, transformation or reconstruction in the history of realty in this city.

One of the most notable instances of buying in the blocks between Park and Lexington avs is that reported this week through Herbert A. Sherman on 55th st and given in detail elsewhere. This is particularly interesting, as a similar operation of what may be called community buying was carried out on 56th st last year. Such operations as these take precedence of the speculative buying in that they at once insure superior improvements and set the character of the property and its influence for good on contiguous parcels. Another operation of excellent promise is that on the north side of 73d st, where the old dwellings are being torn down to make way for modern ones, which Charles Dana Gibson and two members of the Pinchot family will own and occupy. On 71st st there is, too, a good example of reconstruction on improved lines, which is something that also takes its place in a movement of this kind.

The evidences of speculation with old-time vigorous characteristics may easily be found in the reported sales. For instance, between 60th and 80th sts (inclusive) ninety-nine old private dwellings have changed hands since the beginning of this year. Of these seventeen were sold twice, two three times and two four times and one has sold five times without title passing. This business was, of course, done on rising values. No. 112 East 64th st was first sold for $19,500, and on the resale brought $23,750. On Wednesday last $4,450 was given for a contract to purchase No. 127 East 65th st at $23,750. No. 114 East 64th st has had the most remarkable recent experience of any piece of property in the section. It was bought at auction for $19,000, and sold by the buyer before he left the auction room at an advance of $500; at a third sale it brought $23,500, and has sold again at a price as yet unknown. In addition some 12 sales and resales completed this week are noted below.

Last year the asking price for dwellings on the north side of 73d st was about $14,000, and some actually sold at about that figure. This year houses in this row were put on the market at $17,400 and sold at $20,000 and one for $21,000. Douglas Robinson, who was the broker in the resale, is now asking $1,500 a front foot, or equivalent to $37,500 for a full lot; and $60,000 is asked for 42-ft. front adjoining. On 79th st offers at $22,500, made early in the year, have been sold at $27,000. In this block ten parcels have been sold this year alone, with one resale. Eightieth st has seen six sales and one resale since the opening of the year. The first sale was made at $16,500; probably there is nothing to be had there now at less than $20,000. Last year the same houses could have been bought for $14,500; a sale around that figure was actually made and considered satisfactory at the time, so rapidly do views of values change.

The business is done in the streets that present the best appearance and show their suitability for superior improvements by the absence of stables and other objectionable features. Most of the improvements on the parcels as sold are 3-sty dwellings of the old-time speculative brownstone and brick kind dating back thirty years, and which may be said to have lived their life from the New York standpoint. The parcels between 60th and 80th sts this year sold, and the number of resales, indicated by the figures 1, 2 or 3 in parenthesis, are these:

60TH ST.—Nos. 116, 124 (1), 126 (1), 127, 131 (2) and 133.

This week there have also been sold twelve more houses which form part of this movement. Several of these are resales, and two of the parcels have sold twice this week. Details will be found in our "Gossip" columns. Exterior Street.

A PROPERTY OWNERS' MOVEMENT TO GET IMPROVEMENT UNDERWAY.

An agitation has been begun by the United Real Estate Owners' Association to force the municipal authorities to take up an improvement that has long lain dormant, and which may have an important bearing upon the property coming within its influence. The facts as stated by Adolph Bloch, Counsel for the Association, are these:

In June, 1897, an assessment was levied for the laying out of Exterior st, on the East River, from 65th to 81st st. The property benefited extended from 59th st on the south to 93d st on the north; on the west from the centre line of 3d av to the East River. The assessment amounted to about $481,000. The association took the matter up and succeeded in effecting a reduction so that the actual amount paid was about $250,000. Now, the Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment, when they made their report, said the adjacent property would be benefited by the building of docks and wharves and the demand for land for collateral purposes. For five years the city has done nothing at all in the matter except to acquire title to the land. During the last administration I went to the Dock Department and was referred to the Department of Highways; I went to the Department of Highways and was told the Dock Department only had jurisdiction. I went back to the Dock Department and was then sent to the Law Department. The Corporation Counsel said he would consider the matter of jurisdiction, and that is as far as we could go.

Recently I laid the matter before the association, who appointed a committee to act with me, consisting of George G. Banzer, George B. Christman, August Ganzenmuller, A. Edward Engel and Philip Doering. We waited upon McDougall Hawkes, President of the Dock Department, and presented the facts to him, and notifying him, as I have also the Borough President, the Commissioner of Public Works, the Corporation Counsel and the Mayor, that as five years have elapsed since the assessment was paid, unless immediate steps were taken to actually lay out the street, I would institute mandamus proceedings to compel his and whatever other department may have jurisdiction to proceed to lay out the street as required by the enabling act passed in 1893. I told him that if he came to the conclusion that because of the lay of the land they could not lay out a street 115 ft. wide, we would then take the steps deemed necessary to secure a refund of the money paid. Commissioner Hawkes was very much interested, and arranged that the committee, accompanied by an engineer of their own, should go over the ground with him and the engineer of the department about May 10, and that thereafter he would promptly ask the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for funds with which to lay out the street, or he would make a recommendation that the assessment be returned. He said: "If you have paid for a street you ought to have it, or have your money back." Now, that is just the position taken by the association, and we will move on those lines.

Thn Superintendent of Buildings.

We publish herewith a photograph of Mr. Perez M. Stewart, the new Superintendent of Buildings. During the few months which he has held that office Mr. Stewart has shown in every possible way that he was determined to give the city the best service he could for the money. He not only succeeded in reducing the expenses of the office by many thousand dollars a year without injuring its efficiency, but he has proved to be fully able to cope with the several important emergencies which have already arisen during his term of office. He has taken effective measures to force the owners of those theatres which were unsafe because they were not built in conformity with the building law to make the necessary alterations, and he is ready to undertake effective inspection of all structures, a conflagration in which would imperil the lives of many people, provided the Board of Estimate will grant him the means. He is a type of the best official which the new administration has produced.

More Proposed North River Tunnels.

The Union Terminal Co. of New Jersey has been incorporated to build and operate a railroad from a point on the boundary line between New York and New Jersey, under the bed of the Hudson River, where it will meet a railroad to be built under the authority of the State of New York, due west from the centre line of the west end of 14th st, Manhattan.

The incorporators are: William Von Hardenberg, 44 East 34th st, New York city; Edward C. Palmer, Morristown, N. J.; Kenneth K. McLaren, 15 Exchange pl, Jersey City; Roy Stone, 1 East 24th st, New York city; Maurice L. Muhleman, 214 West 112th st, New York city; Joseph A. Duffy, Long Branch, and Evan J. Dudley, 15 Exchange pl, Jersey City.

It is stated that the company proposes to offer facilities to roads running into Jersey City to enter Manhattan, and will establish a big underground station under Union Square.

The New York & Jersey City Terminal Underground Railroad Co. is another recent incorporation, which has for directors Henry M. Black, James M. Fisk, William M. Clarke, John M. Thompson, Nelson S. Easton, L. Russell Clapp, Frank H. Quinby, Henry L. Boughton and Charles E. Dodge. This organization is said to be for the purpose of preserving rights in old charters for underground railroads on Manhattan Island. The company proposes to construct a six-mile road, from a point on the Hudson River at the boundary line between the States of New York and New Jersey, under the river to West st and Battery pl, under the streets of New York city to 57th st (with branches), where it will connect with the Harlem River. Following are the streets outlined in the papers: From the intersection of West st and Battery pl to Greenwich st, to Trinity pl, to Church st, to Dey st, to Broadway and Vesey st, to Park row, to Centre st, to New Elm st, to Great Jones st, to Lafayette pl, to Astor pl, to 8th st, to 9th st, to 4th av, to 42d st, to Grand Central Depot, to Park av, to 57th st, connecting at 57th st with the Harlem Railroad or the Vanderbilt system of railroads. It is also specified that a branch shall be constructed forming a connection with the main line at 34th st and 4th av and running under 34th st to the East River.

Insurance—Fire Following Explosion.

Litigation of the claim for insurance on No. 275 Washington st, which was destroyed by fire as a result of the explosion in the Tarrant Building, has confirmed the liability of the insuree. Frank Hustace and another owned the building and had a policy of fire insurance issued by the Phoenix Insurance Co. of Brooklyn, who refused payment when the building was destroyed. The Supreme Court found in favor of the owner, and the judgment has just been confirmed by the Appellate Division. Presiding Justice Van Brunt says in the opinion: "While damages from explosions caused by concussion or from a lighted candle or match (which are not fires covered by the policy) would come within the exemption of the policy, as has been frequently held, yet it has nowhere been held that where a fire of a character which would be covered by a policy of insurance against fire, originates in one building and causes an explosion therein, which destroys the neighboring building, as well as the one in which it originates, and such fire consumes the ruins left by the explosion of the building insured, that a recovery cannot be had upon a policy of insurance against fire upon the neighboring building."

The Bay Window Case.

A Supreme Court Appellate Division decision was handed down this week confirming modified judgment of lower court rendered in the case of Ackerman v. True. This was an action brought to compel Clarence True, the builder, to remove a window projection from a house erected by him on Riverside Drive, between 81st and 82d sts, because it cut off the view from the adjoining property, of which plaintiff, Mrs. Charlotte Y. Ackerman, is the owner, and therefore caused injury and damage thereto. The case has been reported several times and the judgment now confirmed dismisses the complaint. The modification is that the judgment is without prejudice to the right of the plaintiff to bring an action for the removal of the extension complained of should she build on her lot and then find herself injured by it. It is understood that the case will now go to the Court of Appeals.

Bronx Transit Developments.

The Central Taxpayers' Alliance of the Bronx held a special meeting Thursday evening and a resolution was adopted to appoint a committee of five or seven men to watch the matter of the Interborough Electric R. R. franchise, now in the Board of Aldermen, and agitate for a five-cent fare between Yonkers or the city limits to the Battery. President Niles will name the committee at the regular meeting. The application for the franchise is to be discussed by the Board of Aldermen the first Tuesday of May. The committee of the Taxpayers' Alliance are to ascertain all they can about the company, and will ask the Board of Aldermen to postpone action on the franchise until they have been supplied with satisfactory information. In the course of the meeting Alderman Peck announced that the Union Railway Co. will apply to the Board of Aldermen for a franchise to cross McComb's Dam Bridge on Tuesday next.

The Litchfield estate, of Brooklyn, recently acquired two apartment houses on West 71st st, an office and studio building on West 21st st, and a loft building on West 24th st, giving in part payment in every instance lots in Brooklyn. The broker in the 71st st sales was the Henry R. Dwight, of E. S. Willard's office.

The official filings show that J. B. Haggin has purchased a tract of 89 acres on Av A and Gravesend Neck road, near the Sheepshead Bay race track, and known as the Kouwenhoven and Ryder farms. The price paid was $181,000. Broker Samuel Goldsticker negotiated the sale.

The Fifty-fifth Street Realty Compay has been organized with a capital of $800,000, to improve the plot at the southwest corner of 5h av and 55th st. H. R. Hoyt, W. H. Bullwinkle and F. D. Phillips are the directors. Henry L. Goodwin is the owner of the property.

The official filings show that Joseph Wolf has purchased the Berkeley School property, on the northeast corner of Madison av and 49th st, at $362,500, the sale of which was noted on March 29th. Charles E. Schuyler & Co. were the brokers. The Berkeley School has bought the dwelling, No. 5 West 75th st, through C. E. Schuyler & Co.

The New York Hospital is advertising the sale of its remaining real estate at Morningside Heights, opposite to Columbia University, on 116th st and Broadway, and it is reported that negotiations are pending for the purchase of the property by a syndicate intending to use it for building apartment houses and dwellings.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday gave a public hearing on the proposition to change the grade of certain streets which will not have sufficient head-room under the approaches of the new East River Bridge now under construction. Those lowered will be Rdige and Attorney sts, at the terminal in this borough, and Driggs av, in Brooklyn. Clinton st, in Manhattan, will be raised about 2 feet. No one appearing in opposition ,the board passed the resolution for the changes.

The firm of Karl M. Wallach & Son was on March 1st last mutually dissolved. Moses K. Wallach has opened offices at 320 East 81st st in one of four houses which he recently built on that street. Mr. Wallach is ready to receive all real estate brokers who have lots, tenements, apartments and business property for sale and who have buyers for the property he owns. The Hoe and Simpson tracts, comprising about 1,100 lots, lying east of and along Westchester av and Southern Boulevard in the Bronx, are the scene of considerable activity. About 100 men are at work opening streets, regulating and grading and putting in sewers. The American Real Estate Co., owners of the property, have comprehensive plans under way which promise to maintain this section in the first class. The couple of hundred houses built on the Johnson tract adjoining have scored a great success.

The Westchester and Conecticut Railroad, which has an old franchise from Stamford to New York, has commenced, or is about to commence, certiorari proceedings against the New York and Port Chester Rapid Transit Company, which has obtained a franchise from the State Railroad Commissioners for a road from Port Chester to 132d st. It is asserted that the New York and Hartford Railroad controls or owns the old franchises of the Westchester and Connecticut Railroad. This seams to indicate that the New York and Port Chester Company may be compelled to fight a long legal battle before they can construct their lines.

Langdon Greenwood this week took title to No. 202 West 43d st, a 4-sty building, on lot 20x60.5, adjoining the corner which he already owns. He paid $50,000 for the fee and $20,000 for a twenty-one-year lease at $1,000 per year, which had eighteen years to run. This makes the lot 20x60.5 cost $70,000, or about $58 per square foot. Nos. 220 and 222, which are, however, 216.8 west of 7th av, are a fairer evidence of the value of lots on this street. Potter & Bro. paid $60,000 for this 33.4x100.4 plot, or a square foot rate of $17.95, which is about a fair value. J. M. Ostrander was one of the brokers in the sale of No. 202.

A visit to a skyscraper a couple of weeks before the date set for occupancy is bewildering. The Jewelers' Exchange Building at Broadway and Maiden lane is due to be ready May 1 and hundreds of men were hustling there on Tuesday to finish their work. De Selding Bros., the agents, say very nearly the entire building has been rented. Work was commenced last May. The 7th National Bank will occupy the Maiden lane corner store and pay about $25,000 per year. The Guardian Trust Co. have leased the lower Broadway store. The total rent roll will be about a quarter of a million dollars yearly.

Mayor Low has disapproved the bill to provide for partial reports of the Commissioner of Estimate in the matter of the Delancey st bridge approach. He said that the act would only prolong on the average the time within which the property-owners would be paid. Regarding the probable duration of the proceeding Mayor Low said: "I am informed by the Corporation Counsel that this particular proceeding as to the bridge approaches on the Brooklyn side is likely to be concluded by July 1st of this year, and that the proceeding now pending relative to the approaches in Manhattan will undoubtedly be concluded before February 1, 1903."

You will find it in Wants and Offers on page 699.

Street or House Numbers.

The text of the proposed ordinance to compel owners and lessees of buildings to affix numbers to the buildings owned or leased by them is given below. A motion to adopt this ordinance caused a great stir in the Board of Aldermen last Tuesday, and it was finally resolved to refer the matter to the Committee on Buildings, with instructions to hold a public hearing on it. The proposed ordinance reads thus:

Section 1. The owner, agent, lessee or other person in charge of each and every building in the City of New York shall cause to be placed or affixed thereon the proper street number or numbers of said building, and shall have said number or numbers kept and retained or renewed thereon; and such number or numbers shall not be less than two inches in height, and they shall be upon a plate at least two and one-half inches in width and of sufficient length to accommodate the numbers upon the same, with a longitudinal margin on said plate of at least one inch before and after the numbers thereon; and such plate shall be fixed to the outside of the building near the entrance thereto, and so that the same shall be plainly legible from the sidewalk in front thereof, and where practicable said plate and numbers shall be at the right of the entrance to the building; and said plate shall be not less than four feet nor more than six feet above the floor of the stoop or entrance of said building. When for any reason it is impracticable to place said plate as above provided, the President of the Borough, upon application to him, shall designate the proper position for the same.

Sec. 2. If the owner, lessee, agent or other person in charge of any building in the City of New York shall fail to provide, place and keep such number or numbers upon such building, the President of the Borough shall send by mail to such person a copy of this ordinance, and if the same is not complied with within thirty days after said notice has been mailed to such owner, lessee, agent or other person in charge of the building, the said President of the Borough shall cause the proper number or numbers of said building to be provided, affixed or placed upon said building in the manner prescribed by this ordinance, the plate upon which the numbers are placed to be of blue or black porcelain, or similar material, and the numbers thereon to be of white enamel, or other material.

Sec. 3. Every owner, lessee, agent or other person in charge of any building in the City of New York, who shall fail or neglect to comply with the provisions of this ordinance within thirty days after the notice above provided for has been mailed to such person, shall be fined twenty-five dollars ($25), which shall be duly sued for and collected.

Sec. 4. The President of the Borough is authorized to determine what the proper number or numbers of each building are.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect immediately.

Fences.

Alderman Sullivan introduced the following new ordinance in relation to fences into the Board of Aldermen on Tuesday, and it was referred to the Committee on Buildings:

Section 1. All partition fences at present erected or hereafter to be erected shall not exceed seven feet in height, except that fences between detached houses shall be of the kind generally designated picket fences and shall in no case exceed four feet in height. No fence shall be erected unless a permit therefor shall have been previously issued by the Superintendent of Buildings of the borough in which said fence is to be located.

Sec. 2. All ordinances or parts of ordinances of the former City of New York, or of the former political subdivisions now incorporated in the City of New York as at present constituted, inconsistent or conflicting with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Sec. 3. This ordinance shall take effect immediately.

THE TENEMENT HOUSE LAWS.

The Record and Guide has now on the press a volume edited by Wm. J. Fryer, containing all the laws and regulations concerning tenement houses. In size and character, it will be a companion volume to "The Building Laws of Greater New York," and will contain the alphabetical cross-indexes which have proved so valuable.

The price of the book bound in cloth will be $1.50, and orders may now be sent to the Publication Office, Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., New York City. This will be the standard book on the subject.

The World of Building

In the Field of Labor

THE SEASON FOR NEGOTIATING CHANGES IN WORKING CONDITIONS AN ACTIVE ONE.

Every year at this time there is heard a good deal about labor agitations and the demands of the workers for higher wages and other advantages. This is because it is becoming more than ever the practice of employers and employed to make agreements in the preceeding months that become of effect usually about May 1st and have force for the following twelve months. In large measure the demands that arise from either side are matters of sober negotiation, but coming as they do together and being presented in the exaggerated perspective of the average reporter, to whom the mere mention of a strike by the humblest individual member of a union is a matter of importance, they appear to create a serious situation and threaten the stability of business conditions. Really the threatened dangers exist more in the minds of the reporters than in those of the leaders in the trades.

Owing to the activity in certain lines of the building trades the men are now carrying off the negotiations successfully. The bricklayers have gained two points from the mason builders. (1) An advance of 5c. an hour in pay, making the rate now 65c. an hour; and (2) that each foreman shall be a union bricklayer. The agreement embodying these modifications will take effect July 1st. The masons' laborers, who are organized into the Laborers' Union Protective Society, are now demanding an advance from $2.75 to $3 a day. Officers of the Mason Builders' Association say they have no official knowledge of this claim. They have no agreement with the masons' laborers and have had none since the latter jained the Central Labor Union. They cannot make agreements with an organization whose members are liable to be called out on sympathetic strikes.

The Ornamental and Co-operative Plasters' Union made a demand for an advance from $4.50 to $5 a day, which was conceded by the Employing Plasterers' Association. Thereupon the Plasterers' Laborers' Union demanded for their members an increase from $3 to $3.50 a day. In addition they asked board and fares out and returning when sent to the country. These terms were declined by the Employers' Association and a strike was ordered. The journeymen held a meeting Tuesday evening and decided not to support the laborers, but later the matter was brought before the Council of the United Building Trades, who endorsed the position of the strikers, and as the journeymen are affiliated with the United Building Trades this action carried them with it. President James Thomson, of the Employing Plasterers' Association, said late yesterday afternoon that the employers were standing firm on their refusal, and the only jobs going on were some up in Harlem carried on by builders who rarely paid high wages, but preferred to employ cheap labor. He said the masons' laborers received only 33 cents an hour, which was equal to $2.64 for an 8-hour day. The plasterers' laborers' work was not more important than the masons' laborers, and therefore there was no justice in their claim for better pay. As to their other demands, they could not be granted, because it would be impossible for city employers to compete for country work handicapped by such terms for common labor.

The refusal of the demand of the Journeyman Plumbers' Union of Brooklyn for an advance from $3.75 to $4 a day was the cause of a short-lived strike this week. After a couple of days the employers gave in and the men returned to work.

The Architectural Ironworkers' Union have decided to demand an increase in wages to go into effect May 1. The new scale, which means an advance all round, calls for 50 cents an hour for outside finishers, 35 cents an hour for outside helpers, 35 cents an hour for inside finishers and 25 cents an hour for inside helpers. There are about one thousand members in the union.

The Tar, Felt and Waterproof Workers' Union, composed of roofers, reported Thursday that the employers have all granted an increase of 25 cents a day in wages without a strike. The union has a membership of 500.

The Amalgamated Carpenters' Society report that they have organized a union of framers and floor layers. This union will demand $4 a day, the same wages that house carpenters are receiving, and an eight-hour workday.

Of Interest to the Building Trades.

The bills directing the appropriation of $300,000 for building and equipping a city hospital for the Bronx has been signed by the Governor.

Mortimer Porter Thain, architect, who has been associated with Arthur G. C. Fletcher, at No. 1135 Broadway, has severed that connection and joined his brother, Charles Thain, at No. 156 5th av.

Wm. A. Keene & Co. have succeeded to the business of the late Michael Kuckenbrod, manufacturer of cornices, skylights, etc., of No. 309 East 39th st. They will complete all contracts of the latter.

James Brown Lord, the architect, who has been ill at his home, No. 27 West 54th st, for the last month, had a relapse Wednesday and it was said that he was critically ill. His illness has been due to a disorder of the stomach.

Many architects see to it that contracts for building nowadays specify that photographs be taken regularly to show progress of the work. As the builders pay for the photos it makes them wince when the work of construction progresses slowly.

Richard Rohl has moved to Room No. 128 Bible House.

The judgment rendered some time ago against Wm. Rankin, builder, and in favor of George Keister, architect, has been confirmed by the Supreme Court—Appellate Division. The litigation was of a dispute between the parties as to whether the architect was entitled to 2½% or 5% for his services in conenction with the plans and building of the Girard, on West 43d st.

The G. H. Hammond Packing Company has awarded the contract for the construction of its great plant at the Union Stock Yards, the cost of which will be about $2,000,000. Work will be undertaken at once, it being expected to have the buildings all completed by the first of next year. The plans provide for five buildings.

George W. Vanderbilt has submitted to the Stapleton, S. I., Borough Board a proposition to erect a borough office building at Bay st and Union pl, on the site of the old Vanderbilt homestead. Mr. Vanderbilt offers to put up a fireproof building of brick and iron, plans to be furnished by the city, to be completed by May 1, 1903, the city to take a ten-years' lease at 6¼ per cent. net on the cost of the building and value of the land. After five years the city may buy the property at its cost. The cost of the building will depend on the specifications furnished by the city. President Cromwell will submit the proposition to the Sinking Fund Commission as soon as possible. Mr. Vanderbilt is in Europe.

DAMP-RESISTING PAINT.

The great Stokes hotel known as the Ansonia, occupying the whole block front on Broadway, from 73d to 74th st, was painted throughout with the R. I. W. Damp Resisting Paint, a fact to which the enterprising owners of this specialty, Toch Bros., draw attention in our advertising pages. Besides extolling the merits of the paint, they present a fine view of the Ansonia. It appears that the paint was used after a thorough examination into its efficiency had been made by the owner and the architect of the building. This is another instance of the fact that owners and architects have come to look upon the R. I. W. Damp Resisting Paint as standing very high in the list of materials of its kind now on the market.

BUILDING WITH STUCCO.

Exterior cement and stucco building is making rapid strides, especially in the construction of country homes. In applying the material to a frame structure, the "settling" and contraction of the frame work has hitherto been the greatest obstacle to overcome. Builders are meeting this by using a metal or wire lath, and by taking time and applying the cement or stucco gradually in thin coats. The results are reported to be most satisfactory. Fronts so made present a pleasing appearance, save paint, and are impervious to atmospheric changes.

A well-organized effort is being made, says a dispatch from Stamford, Conn., backed by the National Building Trades' Council of America, to concentrate the energy and interests of all of the allied building trades and local unions of the country into one central organization. To emphasize and maintain this progressive labor idea, E. L. Smyth, General President and Chief Organizer, and H. W. Steinbiss, General Secretary-Treasurer and founder of the National Building Trades' Council, with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., have already spent three months in reorganizing the allied trades' unions throughout the East, and expect to spend two weeks more. In New England alone combinations of local trades' unionists have been accomplished in Holyoke, Springfield, Brockton and Worcester, Mass.; Providence, R. I., and Hartford, Bridgeport and Norwalk.

Questions and Answers.

We must remind our correspondents that we cannot answer anonymous communications. Readers must also remember that communications to us cannot invariably be answered the week they are received.

BUILDING LAW.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly let us know whether a man can build the full extent of a lot (enclosed you will find diagram). A party we know owns plots B and C. A goes to work and builds on what was formerly yard, and which is marked red on diagram, and which is only about 10 feet, and wants to make it four stories, shutting off air and light from B. Can A do this?

Answer.—If the building on lot A is an office or business building, and the building or tenement house law is not violated, the fact that light and air are shut off from lot B has nothing to do with the case.—Law Editor.

LANDLORD AND TENANT—LEAKY ROOF.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

During the severe storm of February 21-22 a tenant sustains damages to carpet and furniture from leaky roof, said roof being in good condition previous to storm. Has tenant a claim for damages?

Answer.—No. See Thomas vs. Kingsland, 108 N. Y. 616, affirming 12 Daly 315.—Law Editor.

LANDLORD AND TENANT -SIGNS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I would like to know if there is any law governing signs. The man on ground floor puts his sign over his door, and so on to the top floor. Has a man any right to occupy the space under his window, thus depriving another tenant of his space?

Answer.—A tenant occupying a portion of a building has no right to encroach with his signs upon the portion of the building occupied by another tenant unless the former has a prior lease to the latter and the landlord gave the former such right.—Law Editor.

CONVEYANCE TO HUSBAND AND WIFE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly inform me in regard to the following, as I have heard contradictory opinions from lawyers. Wm. Jones conveys by deed a house lot to John Doe and Jane Doe his wife. (1) In case of death of either does the title remain in the survivor? (2) Can the survivor convey without signatures of heirs (both having brothers and no children), or is it necessary to have quit claim deed before death?

Answer.—(1) Yes, in New York State. (2) Same answer.—Law Editor.

RESTRICTIONS IN DEED.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A has a piece of property with the following restrictions: He wishes to know if he could convey to B for the purpose of erecting an ice plant without violating these restrictions: "Party of the second part will not permit to be erected any kind of slaughter house, smith shop, forge furnace, steam engine, brass foundry, nail or other factory, or any manufactory of gun powder, glue, varnish, vitriol, ink or turpentine, or for the tanning, dressing or preparing skins, hides or leather, or any brewery, distillery, livery stable, or buildings for any noxious or dangerous trade or business, cow stable, or piggery."

Answer—The decisions are numerous upon the subject of restrictions on building contained in deeds, but I find none where an ice plant is mentioned. My opinion is, however, that the restriction as to erection of a steam engine or any factory, forbids the erection of an ice plant.—Law Editor.

"L" ROAD DEPRECIATION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly answer the following queries. I own two separate parcels of property, one improved on the rear of the lot, the other vacant. The "L" structure, which passes both, has caused a great depreciation in the value, and in the case of the improved parcel, made it impossible to rent the premises except at a great reduction. (1) Kindly advise me as to what remedy I have in both instances, and cite some similar cases against N. Y. L. corporations. (2) Will a separate action for loss of rent have to be taken in addition to an action for damages for depreciation of values?

Answer.—(1) You can bring an action for the damages you have sustained. (2) One action can include both these items of damages.—Law Editor.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C. and C. a. G. are preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing a Covenants against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50 c., and for each additional $500 of fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

April 11, 12, 14, 15, 16 and 17.

Questions and Answers.

BRIDGE APPROACH.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will adjoining property be liable for assessment for any proposed street opening or widening in connection with the matter of the New East River Bridge approach?

Answer—That has yet to be determined by the authorities.—Editor Record and Guide.

BROKER'S COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A (the owner) gives B (a broker) authorization to sell her house for $50,000. B meets C, a friend, who is also a broker. C asks B whether he has a house in a certain location, as he has a client who is looking for one. B gives C the house that A has given him to sell. C gives it to his client, D, who goes and looks at the house, and saying to the owner (A) that C had offered it to her (D). A said to D that she did not give C the house to sell. D buys the house from A direct for $48,000. C notifies B that his client (D) had bought the house from A. B goes to A for his commission. A refuses to pay the same, as she understood, and that D had told her that there were no brokers in the deal. D calls at C's office and told C that she did mention his name to A as sending her, and offered her the house for sale. Question: Are B and C entitled to the commission? Also, would this hold in law?

Answer.—B is entitled to the commission.—Law Editor.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I have store property in the 17th Ward. My father gave formerly verbal lease from May to May. He died two years ago, and last year, in February, 1901, I called on storekeeper in regard about lease. He accepted verbal lease until May, 1902. Latter part of May, 1901, I sold property, and in February, 1902, new owner called on tenant in regard to lease, and he put him off from week to week to sign the lease, which he did not do. I gave him notice to vacate the store two months ago. He now tells me I cannot make him move; he has verbal lease to stay. Please tell me what I have to do? Or can he stay?

Answer.—You have nothing to do. The new owner can put the tenant out if he so desires.—Law Editor.

BROKERS' COMMISSIONS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I, a broker, offer a certain property to a party coming into my office to purchase. He does not buy it, but mentions it to a neighbor, who goes to look at it, and there meets the owner, to whom he represents that there is no broker negotiating with or for him, on the strength of which statement the owner allows him the amount of broker's commission and sign contracts with him. Am I entitled to a commission?

Answer.—No. You did not bring purchaser and seller together.—Law Editor.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Please answer in your next issue. Broker rented a cottage to a party for one year, at a rental of $45 per month; term expires first day of May, 1902. Broker called upon tenant, asking him if he is going to stay another year. Tenant informed broker that he has already seen the owner, and is taking the house for two more years at a rent of $50 per month. (1) Is broker entitled to his commission? (2) How much?

Answer.—Broker is not entitled to commission. He did not effect the lease.—Law Editor.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

Most people depend so much now-a-days on the telephone service that a Private Branch Exchange, connecting with the New York Telephone System, is practically a necessity in the Modern Apartment House or Hotel.

Appended quotations are based almost wholly upon prices obtained for goods from first hands. Yard rates necessarily range much higher owing to the expenses attending sorting out and grading cargo and even car lots, besides which must be added the cost of handling and carrying until consumers are ready to invest. Terms of sale also prove important factors, and altogether it is impossible to give a line of retail quotations thoroughly reliable in character.

Vol. LXIX. APRIL 26, 1902. No. 1780

The April Number of the Architectural Record, devoted to illustrations of the works of Mr Ernest Flagg, is now ready for delivery. It contains a hundred reproductions of buildings designed by Mr. Flagg, with an explanation of their character, and a critical introduction. This number is the final issue of the Architectural Record as a quarterly magazine. Hereafter it will be published every month, and its character broadened, so as to cover not only architecture and the interests immediately attached to it, but the remoter departments of Fine Art Design. The subscription price of the monthly publication will be $3.00 a year—25 cents for each copy.

IN the Stock Market business has been active and of increasing volume, with the proportion of commission-house buying growing larger all the time. Buying is encouraged by indefinite talk of combinations and of new developments, but the most conservative brokers look upon prices as high, and while they would advise new buying along careful lines, if there should occur a break of four or five points, at present they assume a non-committal attitude, simply putting themselves and their forces at the disposal of their customers, but refraining from offering decided views. The buying in the bond division is also very large and of necessity largely in the least credited of secured issues, such as income bonds. This like the buying in low priced stocks is based upon an opinion now become very generally accepted, that under the new conditions prevailing, both of business and of control of the railroad systems, there is a great future in store for any kind of railroad security. That view has been held in other periods of prosperity and consequent optimism. What eventually followed it is not necessary to recite. Our own view of the present conditions in the Stock Market is, that a reaction is going on from the depression that followed the panic of last May; that prices of the leading securities will not reach the high records they made last year and that when the downward movement is resumed they will be carried lower than they have been since the panic. There are two things that stand as obstacles to an extravagant advance: Crop conditions and the Government's movement against combinations. The first are misrepresented according to the effect desired, but it must be admitted by the most unprejudiced that the agricultural season opens unpropitiously. As to the legal proceedings against the Northern Securities Company, their seriousness can best be estimated by Mr. Hill's remark on the action of the Supreme Court granting leave to the State of Washington to begin suit against the company. What, says Mr. Hill, in effect, does it matter what the Government do, we have the property in any event! But they had the property before they formed the Northern Securities Company. Surely something was gained by the formation of that company, and if whatever was gained is taken away, doesn't it matter? If that it does not, why did the astute gentleman who organized the company go to so much trouble and expense, for it was a matter requiring a great deal of thinking and hard work, and the paying out of a good deal of money too.

THE application of the Fuller Construction Company to have their stocks quoted on the regular list of the Stock Exchange, was something to be expected from the developments of the hour. It was natural that the company should take this step to give their stockholders a market; and it will be interesting to note, first, how the Listing Committee regard the securities of a corporation of this nature, and, second, in the event of the stocks being accepted for quotation on the Stock Exchange, what attitude the speculating and buying public will take toward them. Whatever the fortunes of this particular venture, it shows whither the business of buying and selling the securities of construction and realty corporations on commission is drifting, unless realty interests do something to intercept it. So far they have given no sign of sincere intention to keep this business to themselves, which is not in accord with their ordinary energy and enterprise. The developments that have led up to the incorporation of building and realty businesses show too how right in their fundamental idea the founders of the late Real Estate Exchange were, even if the policy through which they expressed it was unfortunate. The accumulation of capital in a real estate exchange proper could easily create and hold the market for securities predicated on land and its development. To-day there are neither the means nor the machinery apparently in sight, and the business as a matter of course is flowing to Wall Street.

The Bowery.

To the old saying "the way of the trangressor is hard," ought to be added the words, "but the way of the regenerate is harder." In its improved form the proverb would apply to more than individuals. There are certain thoroughfares in New York City that have had unenviable notoriety because of the character of their occupants, and of the affairs carried on therein, which has clung to them long after the causes had disappeared. In some cases this notoriety is almost or quite forgotten by the present generation and there are others that are still striving earnestly to outlive their past reputation. One of the latter is the Bowery. The efforts made to regenerate that thoroughfare will be successful in the end and that end is not far off, but success is delayed more through thoughtless sensation mongering than by any vice or immorality that may linger there.

At the moment the people who have been working for two years or more to rid the Bowery of its obnoxious features and have been eminently successful, are wrought up into a condition of natural indignation by the publication of an article in last Sunday's issue of the "Herald" which sets out to prove that the conditions that gave the Bowery its reputation of thirty years ago are still rampant there. Judged by the facts as they exist to-day, and ordinary standards of morality, the article is as great a fraud upon its innocent readers as ever was perpetrated by an old-time denizen of the Bowery on the unsuspecting wayfarer within its purlieus. What reputable men doing business on the Bowery think of it will be seen by a letter given on another page of this issue. The article and its illustrations occupy a page. There is a two-inch headline "The Paradise of the Criminal;" a second headline in inch-long letters, "The Bowery is Morally as Bad as it was Thirty Years Ago;" three-quarters of a column of text purporting to describe places and people on the Bowery made up of criminal reminiscences expressed in thieves' slang, and a column and a half of confessions of a criminal who does not disclose his identity, in which the Bowery is never once mentioned. These with the illustrations make up the indictment against the Bowery. The principal illustration is a view of the section of that thoroughfare that happens to contain the expensive bank buildings which have been erected under the impulse of the new movement, and other buildings in which the awfully sinful businesses of the florist, tobacconist, hatter, clothier, jeweler, etc., are carried on. There are other illustrations which people who may be believed say could never have been taken in the Bowery at all, because the subjects do not exist there.

All this is very unfair and to be deprecated on moral grounds. The economical effect of this and similar publications is to keep respectable people, who are unacquainted with the real state of affairs in the Bowery at the present time, from attempting to do business there if they are so disposed, and the actual injury to property and commercial values that can be estimated in dollars and cents, is quite considerable. Sometime ago we pointed out the opportunities for realty development presented on the Bowery by reason of its changed character, the extent and importance of the thoroughfare and its relation to other lines of travel and to the new bridge, etc., and this presentation still holds good. The energetic protective association, whose officers make the protest before referred to, have rid the thoroughfare of its objectionable establishments wherever they have found them, and stand ready to proceed against any others that may appear. What remnants of old-time objectionableness still linger, do so with the knowledge that overt acts of questionable character will arouse this powerful organization to repressive action. Whatever obstacles stand in the way and whatever discouragement foolish newspaper articles like the one complained of cause, one thing is certain that under the vigilance of the property owners' association and the physical changes that a growing travel and commerce are compelling, the Bowery is fast becoming too important for vice to keep any hold upon it. The day is coming when the Bowery will be as free of the reputation of bad resorts as lower Broadway is to-day of the gambling houses that one time flourished there.

The Real Estate Situation

It is the general feeling among real estate operators and brokers that, not only are conditions still wholesome, but that there is a fair promise that the present prosperous conditions will be continued for some time. In this they are probably right. There are, indeed, evidences that perhaps the pace will be moderated until next winter. The state of the structural steel market will tend to postpone for at least six months the inception of any new enterprises for the construction of fireproof buildings, while the recent advances in prices all along the line cannot but discourage buyers until they become accustomed to a higher level of values. But such a period of comparative moderation would be entirely beneficial; and it is very much to be hoped that the market will take that much time to digest its acquisitions. The reason for believing that New York may expect a comparatively prolonged period of activity is the fact that beginning in 1903 there will be for the next few years a series of transit improvements completed of the utmost importance; and it will keep real estate operators and builders sufficiently busy in merely trying to adapt values and buildings in New York to the changes which these transit improvements will bring about. They are doing their best at present to anticipate these changes, but the facts are certain to falsify in many respects any anticipations. There can be no doubt that vast as have been the changes, which have taken place in New York during the past fifteen years, they will be surpassed in extent and importance by the changes which the tunnels and bridges now under preparation or construction will eventually effect. New York will be remade on a more colossal scale, and great will be the profit thereof. Moreover, it must be remembered that not yet have we reached an end to the announcement of far reaching transit and business enterprises to take place immediately. It is an open secret that there are other tunnels under consideration as important as the Pennsylvania tunnel, and other business removals as unexpected and astonishing as that of R. H. Macy & Co. to Greeley square. In short the causes which lie behind the existing activity and strength are still full of vigor and aggressiveness; and for many a long day they will keep people running and guessing. The chief cloud on the situation is not any weakness or lack of confidence of private interests, but rather the comparative lethargy of public administration, and the failure of both public opinion and officials to understand what radical action in the way of municipal improvements the situation demands.

The Future of the Market.

The Record and Guide prints in another column the results of a canvass among some of the leading Manhattan real estate brokers and operators. The purpose of that canvass was to ascertain, so far as possible, what the people most nearly interested in the real estate market think of the present situation. This situation is, as every one knows most unusual There has been for the past eighteen months great activity and considerable advances in price, but the activity has been confined to certain lines of trading and the advances in value seem frequently to have been largely speculative. And a new and somewhat unaccountable element has been introduced into the market through the aggressive buying of real estate corporations. Has this activity been based upon sound economic causes? Is too much floating property getting into speculative hands? Is there any danger that when the present prosperity is succeeded by the inevitable period of depression, is there any danger that so much weakly held property will be thrown upon the market as to cause widespread disaster? In short is there any element of inflation in the present movement, as there was in 1872, and if so, how much? For the most part these questions have been answered by the brokers and operators convassed in a single strain. Nearly all of them unite in believing the present situation is justified by the actual business and commercial conditions now prevailing in this city; it is justified that is, by the actual demand for real estate for business and residential uses. In justification of this statement they point to the way in which buildings in the financial and mercantile districts have been filling up with new tenants, and to the fact that the supply of such accommodations of a really first class kind is now somewhat behind the demand. They admit the large speculative infusion in the present market, but they point, out as the Record and Guide has frequently pointed out in the past, that the sepculative firms and companies are generally backed by large financial interests who are not likely to be dismayed and discouraged by a period of inactivity and depression. It is true that some of the methods of the corporations are questionable; they have a way of making paper profits by transferring property back and forth among different corporations, which, if persisted in, will prevent them from obtaining the public confidence, that, as Mr. Chesebrough shows, is necessarily to the next and final step in their organization. But hitherto their operations have been successful, and they will doubtless find in the end that conservative methods pay. The only section of the city about which local brokers are a little doubtful is in the neighborhood of Long Acre square. It is suggested that prices in that vicinity are likely to go down somewhat before they make any further advance, and there is probably some truth in the suggestion. The fact of the matter is that the prices in that vicinity are at present so high that the property cannot yield any corresponding income, and that they pretty well discount the expansion of the next five or ten years. No recessions are likely, however, until the effect of the Subway becomes apparent, and as long as apartment hotels and theatres are prosperous; it is entirely possible that such recessions will never take place.

The Situation as the Brokers See It.

It will be noticed in the interviews published in another column with West Side brokers, that they speak very hopefully of the situation in that important section of the city. They state that renting conditions are more favorable than for some years past, that private dwellings are in good demand, and that property is particularly active along the line of Broadway. Each of these points demand some consideration. That apartment houses show a smaller proportion of vacancies than has been usual is the consequence of the decreased number of such buildings which have been started since the passage of the tenement house law, and of the displacement of all kinds of residential housing which is going on throughout the city. This displacement undoubtedly affects private dwellings more than it does apartments, and it explains in part the better demand for existing West Side private residences. Although that demand has become conspicuous also because of the practical cesation of new building in that class of property on the West Side. Evidences of such a demand can be seen in the "Gossip" columns of this issue of the Record and Guide, which contains a large number of these sales; and it may be confidently predicted that after the completion of the Subway medium-priced dwellings on the West Side will be almost as popular as the same class of dwellings are on the East Side at present. Private residences suffer particularly from the present deficient means of communication, because they are not so frequently situated near the Manhattan Railway stations as are the big apartment houses. Finally, the activity on Broadway fulfills a prediction which has frequently been made in these columns, viz., that upper Broadway was assuredly destined to be a continuance of lower Broadway, and consequently an important business thoroughfare. The whole avenue will be lined with big apartment houses and hotels with shops below, and in its continuation of business with high-grade residence characteristics will resemble a Paris boulevard. The mere fact that Broadway runs not only up and downtown also across town gives it such an advantage over any avenue that is merely parallel to other avenues, that it necessarily assumes a dominant position.

West Side Tendencies.

DURING the week successively the Mayor, the Board of Aldermen, and finally the Rapid Transit Commission have taken cognizance of the widespread public agitation in favor of a direct East Side Subway, from 42d st. to the Bronx, and the result of it is that the commission has requested the Chief Engineer to report to the Board at as early a date as possible, plans for such an extension. And, indeed, the agitation had reached such proportions that it could not be ignored. Not very many indications of it have appeared in the newspapers, because the Tribune began the agitation, and consequently, such is the enlightened and generous practice of the metropolitan press, no other daily journal would give it a mention, until it became a matter of official action. But, in spite of the silence of the newspapers, an active and aggressive local public opinion has declared itself in favor of the extension. The boards of trades and property owners' associations of the East Side, of Harlem, and the Bronx, have all demanded the additional accommodation to which they are manifestly entitled. The present Subway system is mutilated by the absence of an East Side branch, whereby a population larger than that now resident on the West Side is cut off from the benefits of the rapid transit system, and the whole eastern portion of the Bronx forced to take an unnecessarily circuitous route to the City Hall. The case needs no argument. It is only a matter of laying down the best route, and preparing to obtain the necessary means. It is obvious, as the Mayor has pointed out, that the extension cannot be built within the present constitutional debt limit, except by a complete and impossible sacrifice of new school houses, docks, and other necessary public improvements, but the only way to get the limit properly enlarged is to force upon public attention the fact that it stands in the way of great public improvements that will be of the utmost benefit to the city.

IN relation to this business of the debt limit, it is interesting to notice that the recently organized trans-atlantic steamship combination has made an application for a long term lease of the proposed new docks along the North river from 23d st south, provided that these docks shall be built by the end of 1903. But in order that these docks should be finished by 1903, the $8,000,000 necessary for their construction must be appropriated at once; and this appropriation cannot be made because of the inflexible limit upon the borrowing power of the city. The consequence is, since the docks could be immediately leased for a yearly return of 5 per cent. of their cost, the city is not only losing for the time being the opportunity of making almost 2 per cent. per annum on the $8,000,000, but the Borough of Manhattan is in danger of seeing more of the trans-atlantic shipping business pass over to Hoboken or Brooklyn. For while the Dock Department is perforce comparatively lethargic about building additional docks, the private owners of water front property in other parts of the port are quick to see their advantage, and tempt the shipping more and more away from Manhattan. This is simply one plain illustration of the burden which the restricted borrowing power of the city imposes upon its public business. For precisely the same reason the administration is obliged to go slow upon improving the water supply, building necessary school houses, and pushing the new bridges vigorously to completion. The Pike Street Bridge, for instance, which because of its location will be much more useful than the Williamsburgh Bridge, instead of being constructed as rapidly as possible, will at the present rate take longer to finish than did the Brooklyn Bridge, for, although work has been commenced on the Brooklyn side, in Manhattan little or nothing is being done. At the present time this restriction on the borrowing power of the city may be described literally as a constitutional provision which prevents the city from making needed and lucrative investments.

FROM mail advices we gather further evidence of the existence of an immense European demand for fixed income securities. Not only was the British loan several times oversubscribed, but the Russian loan emitted in Berlin which called for $75,000,000 received tenders of $7,500,000,000. Even when allowance is made for the speculative nature of much of this, the remainder is astounding in its volume asd discloses large funds of unemployed capital. The terms of the loan were unusually attractive, the price being 1½ per cent. below quotations for outstanding Russian 4s. This fact doubtless swelled the speculative bidding to unusual proportions because of the chances it offered for realizing a quick profit, but it is reported that many of the bona-fide subscribers bound themselves to hold their allotments for at least a year. These latter will of course be preferred in the distribution. It is a pity that a market for American securities cannot be opened in Paris. If it could it would increase the demand for our security issues considerably, because the French are large buyers when they take hold, as witness the South African gold shares and the European copper securities. Speaking of copper securities—the list containing mostly European names, though the Anaconda appears among them—an exchange says: "The price of copper is fully £16 ($80) per ton lower at the present time than at the corresponding period of last year, and the position and the prospects of the market are about as unsettled as they could well be. The companies producing considerable amounts of sulphur are benefiting to a greater or lesser extent from the increased value of that commodity. On the whole, however, the prospects of the copper-producing companies are too doubtful to be gauged with any approach to certainty." Seeing how much the American producer depends upon the European market, this has a bearing also on the copper securities dealt in exclusively on this side of the Atlantic. Apropos of the announced Atlantic steamship combination it may interest readers to learn that the British shipyards are facing the prospect of a period of dulness. The active yards are working on old orders, and in general men are being discharged already. In three months the tonnage launched in the whole United Kingdom amounted to 280,000 tons, but the new orders booked footed up only 150,000 tons. Hundreds of vessels are said to have been laid up in preference to sending them "tramping" in a time of small demand and low freight.

WHILE our countrymen are doing a great deal to introduce our methods and appliances into Mexico, it still seems that there is plenty of opportunity for further work in that direction. According to Consul-General Barlow, whose report for 1901 is now being circulated in advance sheets, Americans, meaning, of course, natives of the United States, have in twenty years increased the value of land tenfold in the section of the City of Mexico in which they have settled, and are gradually making known to the natives the domestic conveniences to which they have been accustomed at home, and demand for themselves wherever they go. The report says that there are 4,000 Americans living in the City of Mexico, and 10,000 in the Republic. Those in the city show a disposition to buy lots and build houses and by their own requirements—which by the way, they cannot easily supply—are extending the uses and proving the advantages of bathtubs in houses over the public baths, and kitchen ranges, etc., over braseros. Regarding conditions of living in Mexico, the report says: A house or flat that would rent for from $15 to $25 a month in the United States, costs from $25 to $75; and one that would rent for $100 a month at home fetches $250 in Mexico. For convenience, U. S. currency equivalents are given, though Consul-General Barlow gives both gold and silver values. Building costs from three to four times what it does in the United States. Inferior brick sells at $14 to $16 a thousand, and inferior lumber from $50 to $60 per 1,000 ft. Labor is cheap but apparently bad, or inefficient. A Mexican bricklayer is said to lay only 200 brick a day, and to require two helpers; a carpenter makes a day's work of hanging one door. All imported articles, such as glass, hardware, plumbing, finishings, steel frame doors and lumber generally cost about three times as much as they do at home. Land is also dear, according to the Consul-General's figures, which, owing to the impossibility of making fair comparisons with cities in the United States, are not given here.

EVIDENTLY people in France are taking it for granted that the United States will purchase the Panama Canal of the French company as it stands, because they are already, as we were surprised and amused to find from one of our exchanges, talking about how the proceeds of the sale will be disposed of. From this it appears that in France they do not know how Congress does or does not do business. As the Isthmian Canal question has been under discussion in that body for a century, it is hardly likely that in its new phase created by the offer of the incomplete canal, it will be settled in one session. However, as there may be many who will be interested in knowing how it is proposed to dispose of the $40,000,000, if that is part for the canal, we take the particulars given by the exchange, which are that $4,000,000 would be paid to indemnify the Panama Railroad Company; $1,000,000 to the Colombian government for a renewal of the concession. Of the surplus 60 per cent. ($21,000,000) would go to the creditors of the old company and 40 per cent. ($14,000,000) to the new, the different categories of bondholders receiving about 17 per cent. of their capital at the issue price of the bonds. It is well to add that there is no evidence of this division being official.

A NEW opinion has been given by the Corporation Counsel on the rights of the owners of buildings and the city authorities in the matter of sky signs, which though expressed differently does not greatly differ in effect at any rate, from that previously given. Briefly it is that the owner has a right to exhibit signs on his land or buildings, and that what are known as police powers enable the authorities to say what shall be their dimensions, the materials of which they shall be constructed and what the means of preventing them from being a menace and a danger to the passer-by. This is the whole case in a nutshell. Outside of such limits the owner may make his signs what he pleases.

THE CONDITION OF THE REALTY MARKET

The Views of Prominent Operators and Brokers

In view of the great activity in real estate and the great advance in values during the last year or two, and in view of the fact that, through statements of various newspapers an impression has gained currency that these values were due to inflation, the Record and Guide has collected the opinions of real estate brokers throughout the city on the subject.

This canvass shows a generally satisfactory state of affairs. In some locations, particularly that of the residential section below 80th street, and east of 5th avenue, the outlook is very encouraging. In the financial district a steady rise in values is reported, with every indication of a permanently active market. Prices are expected to hold in the Herald Square and Long Acre Square districts, although in one case an opinion is expressed that slightly false prices have been paid. There is plenty of activity in the mercantile section. Properties are bringing increased rentals, and the outlook for an abundance of sales within the next year is good.

Mr. Van Pelt, of the firm of George R. Read & Co., places the average increase in this section at from 20 to 25 per cent., with a corresponding advance in rentals, during the past year. He says the demand for offices and business space is unprecedented, while the number and volume of real estate transactions is greater than ever before in the history of New York real estate. He said further, that while a considerable proportion of the purchases were made for speculative purposes, he did not ascribe the higher prices to this fact, but to the wonderful strides which have recently been made in every branch of business. So great is the demand for office accommodations that in one instance an office building in the charge of his firm, which had only reached the second story in construction, is already more than half leased.

Messrs. Lovejoy & Noyes also take an optimistic view of the situation. Mr. Lovejoy said:

"We have never before done such a volume of business, and I believe this statement, strong as it is, will apply to the other real estate men in this section. Values have increased remarkably, but, I believe, normally, and we look for a prolonged continuation of the present happy state of affairs, with a further broadening of the market. There were never so many and such immense buildings being erected, and never such a demand for them. We have even been approached in a number of instances by men who offer to rent certain sites if we can persuade the owner to build on them. Some owners, however, are a little sceptical about investing in new buildings, but are anxious to do so if we can show them that there is no danger of their not being rented. This is easily accomplished.

"An interesting feature of the situation is that 50 per cent. of the owners of property on which old buildings stand, are inserting cancellation clauses in their leases to take effect in case of sale. "The insurance companies, which have been driven from Broadway and Wall street through the advent of new corporations and old ones which desire to establish themselves on those thoroughfares, have found great difficulty in getting room in the new insurance district on William, Pine and Cedar streets, where the present demand has very plainly manifested itself. In fact, in looking over the whole district one finds, not that there is danger of over-building, but that it is hardly possible to build enough. An encouraging feature is the activity which has sprung up in the section east of Pearl street. There is sale for property there at the present time which has been lying dormant for years, and the demand shows every indication of being permanent."

Mr. Chesebrough, president of the Century Realty Co., expressed himself as a believer in a very prosperous future for Manhattan Borough. "New York is now America and before many years it will be the world," was the way he expressed his belief. He considers the cause of the enhanced value of realty to be the natural outcome of the growth of the business interests in the whole country, their consolidation in New York City, and the resultant demand for business sites.

"In the present state of affairs," said Mr. Chesebrough, "there are innumerable consolidations of businesses into one great concern, which must establish itself in New York to be a success. As a consequence, many companies which never before had offices in New York have their headquarters here now, and more are coming here regularly. In my opinion, not only will the present value of realty hold, but it will increase. That is, of course, on the great arteries of the city. It may be that properties on the side streets, inaccessible from the centre of activity, will attain a false value which cannot hold, but realty on Broadway, Wall street, Nassau, Broad and New streets is in no such danger.

"I believe the natural course of business in the financial section to be south on Broadway, Broad and New streets, and west on Wall street, and in a few years expect to see Wall street built up and occupied by large companies and corporations clear down to the ferry, while the southern tendency will be terminated only by the reaching of the Battery. It does not look now as though this district is apt to extend northward for many years. Property south and west of the present financial centre should be an excellent investment and one which promises large returns in the near future, and in the next few years transactions will undoubtedly be made there on a broad scale."

"One of the possibilities of the real estate field which has as yet been untouched in New York, but which is bound before long to claim a great deal of attention, is that of the formation of a company for the purpose of buying real estate on a large scale, which will sell shares to the small investor. This plan is at present successful in Boston, where the public in general has been educated to the point of appreciating its worth. A capital of from $5,000,000 to $20,000,000 would be required and it would, of course, be necessary that the company be officered and managed by men of unimpeachable character and recognized ability. Such a plan would be of great value to people who had saved comparatively small amounts which under the present conditions are invested in the real estate market only in small mortgages, where the danger of total or partial loss to the inexperienced has no where near adequate compensation in the interest drawn. With proper management a profit of from six to eight per cent. could be paid and comparatively small risk run by the shareholder."

Mr. Flake, of Flake & Dowling, managers of the New York Realty Corporation, said:

"There is only one tendency which realty in the financial district can possibly have and that is to advance. New York City is the center of American finance, and feels not only its own rapid growth, but that of the country at large as well. There has been more or less speculative buying, of course, but to say it could have any effect on a market which is the most firm in the country would be untrue. A good criterion of future values would be a comparison with values of the same district in London. When there in 1896 I was told that there had been but six transfers of real estate in the preceding fifty years within the heart of the financial district, and those at much higher prices than obtain here. So valuable was the realty that owners refused to sell at any figure. A similar condition will necessarily prevail in the financial center of New York sooner or later."

Mr. Flake said the effect of realty corporations on the market would be toward the fixing of values where they belong, their maintenance there, and an infusion of a genuine feeling of confidence into the purchasing public.

Mr. E. A. Cruikshank in speaking of the general real estate situation described the outlook as "hopeful." He does not think the present high values other than normal, or that the increase during the last year is anything more than should be expected when the general prosperity of the country and the abundance of ready money is considered.

"I find that rentals are easily made at figures which make an investment in realty in this section compare favorably with investments in any other line. The demand for locations on the principal streets is in excess of the supply, and in most cases leases are signed for a very considerable portion of the space in a desirable building long before it is ready for its tenants.

"So long as this state of affairs continues, and every indication points to its permanency, there is no possibility of a decrease in valuation. On the other hand, I look for a still further effect from the general prosperity.

THE MERCANTILE DISTRICT.

Mr. C. E. Harrell does not speak very enthusiastically of the future of the mercantile district, although he does not by any means take a pessimistic view of the situation. He finds that both the number of sales and in the prices reported, the present year is decidedly ahead of the year previous, and cites as an instance the recent purchase by the Cook Publishing Concern, Chicago, of the 26x100 property at 146 5th avenue, for approximately $130,000. This same site on its last sale, about a year ago, brought but $100,000. When asked about the situation in 23d street, Mr. Harrell said:

"There is practically no market there, not through any lack of purchasers, but because owners will not sell at any but a prohibitive price. Rentals hold their own, and when a building becomes vacant, which is very seldom, it is taken without any loss of time by another tenant. "I expect the present values to hold steady, but should not be surprised to see them fail to increase materially for some time."

Mr. Leon Tanenbaum, of L. Tanenbaum, Strauss & Co., speaking of the situation said:

"In comparing the business of this year with that of last I fail to not any marked improvement, although the general indications are a little better for this district. There are at present time a good many sellers with a considerably small number of buyers. Rentals have, however, shown a good, steady increase, and within another year we expect the market to be brisk. The country in general is in a prosperous condition, great deal of money is awaiting investment in real estate. The umber of mercantile concerns in all lines is on the increase, nd the new ones will require room in this district. Investments ıay be looked for also from men who have taken big profits out f the stock market and are desirous of placing their idle capital. "Just at present the situation is quiet, but full of promise."

HERALD SQUARE AND LONG ACRE SQUARE.

Mr. J. Edgar Leaycraft attributes the increased values in Long .cre square to the purchase recently of theatre sites and the ıvestments which have been made in apartment hotels. He verages the increase in values at from 15 to 25 per cent.

"I do not consider the present price too high," continued Mr. eaycraft, "but it is possible that the high water mark has been eached, and values may not increase.

"I think the region of Broadway and 42d street, however, is ne where the value of realty is bound to advance greatly within he next few years. When the underground railway is com-leted, it should become a natural retail dry-goods district, as it ill be of very easy access to both the West Side and the East ide trades'.

The opinion of Mr. John P. Kirwan would properly be described s "bearish," rather than "bullish."

"I believe," said Mr. Kirwan, "that both owners and purchasers ave been slightly carried away by the prices which have been aid for theatre sites. As high as $2,500 a front foot has been aid, whereas, in my belief, $2,000 would have amply covered ıe value. I look for a slight reaction, but do not think much ıoney will be lost, as most of the property is in the hands f big speculators, who can afford to wait for an advance in the ıarket, especially as everything in this section is more than arrying itself. This reaction, if it comes, will last but a short me, when there should be another advance. The building of ıe underground railway is, of course, for the time being detri-ıental, but it will eventually be a great help. "The apartment otel building is being carried too far, I think, and landloards ıay suffer from a lack of tenants in the coming year."

Mr. Kirwan has rather more belief in the future of Long Acre quare than of Herald square, notwithstanding the benefit which ıe latter is deriving from the Pennsylvania terminal. "It is robable that eventually the two squares will merge in a busi-ess sense," he said. "In Herald Square and near by there is at resent considerable syndicate buying for the purpose of hotel nd retail business house erection near the new terminal.

Mr. Kirwan summed up the situation as he regards it in these ords: "The outlook calls for a falling off of business and a ight decrease in prices during the next few years,with a promise f renewed activity at the expiration of that time."

MIDDLE FIFTH AVENUE.

Mr. Winans, of Winans & May, says: "I consider the outcome f the situation entirely problematical, and any statement of ıe probable future course of the market would be guess-work. he present conditions are very satisfactory, and we trust they ill continue so."

Mr. Pease, of Pease & Elliman, says that the volume of busi-ess being transacted in the 5th avenue section this year is ouble that of last. "An instance of the advance in value is the 5x100 property at 557 5th avenue, which was bought a year or ago for $140,000. Last fall the owner was offered $175,000, nd he is now offered and refuses $185,000. The cause of this dvance in price, which is general all along the middle section of th avenue, is the removal of retail firms from lower 5th avenue the more desirable sites above. There is a steady demand for ood locations which will undoubtedly continue. We do not ink the limit in price has been reached as yet, and as the in-rease is a result of perfectly natural causes, there is nothing hich would indicate a falling off of the present activity."

Mr. F. T. Barry says that the situation in the residential dis-ict below 80th street, and between 5th and Lexington avenues, better than it has ever been before.

"I attribute this," said Mr. Barry, "to the fact that many of ıe old residential sections further downtown have been taken r business purposes, leaving the former owners without a home ıd with plenty of money to purchase another. In a large pro-ortion of cases they turn to this section as the most desirable. ıe result is that the district is filling up with a better class of eople, and is, consequently, more in demand every day. The crease in values over those of a year ago are 25, 50 and, in me cases, 100 per cent. All indications point to a continuance this state of affairs, for the reason that it has arisen from rfectly natural and healthy causes."

Mr. Reese, of Post & Reese, takes an equally cheerful view ıd attributes the advanced values to practically the same uses.

'One thing that leads me to believe in the permanency of the esent market and its probable growth," said Mr. Reese, "is the tter class which is moving into this portion of the city. Prop-ty is being purchased by exclusive and moderately wealthy ople who have induced their friends to move into the same ighborhood. Most of the activity is, and will continue to be, the side streets between Madison street and Park avenue. operty is not for sale to any extent between 5th and Madison enues, and the demand for locations on the avenues themselves not so great, although some improvement is to be noted on Lexington avenue, while Park avenue has a future commencing with substitution of electricity for steam in the tunnel.

Mr. F. Zittel considers the outlook promising and the present situation satisfactory in the West Side district.

"Sales of realty are much more easily made at the present time than they were a year ago," said Mr. Zittel. "Prices have in some cases gone up slightly. The principal activity is between Central Park West and Amsterdam avenue, and 60th and 77th streets, and along Broadway from 59th to 108th street. The demand partly from people who have recently disposed of their property on the East Side, and partly from those who have been driven from the fast disappearing residential sections in the lower part of the city. There is very little speculative buying. Most of the sales are of private houses, while the apartment house market is very quiet. I expect greater activity next year with slightly increased values, and do not apprehend any decrease whatever."

Mr. Hobbs, of Slawson & Hobbs, says: "There has been some improvement over the amount of business done in the past year or two, and I find quite a demand for residential property, coming, I believe, from people who have until recently lived in the downtown residential sections. I do not believe that we are deriving any benefit here from people who have recently disposed of their properties on the East Side, most of whom, I believe, have turned to Harlem for a home. Property on Central Park West is steadily increasing in value, and along Broadway up to 108th street there is some activity. The outlook for next year is encouraging, and, in fact, I believe there will be a steady development of this section for years to come. Rentals are good, and viewing the situation from all points we have much more cause for congratulation than complaint."

A Protest from the Bowery.

New York, April 24, 1902.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Dear Sir: Our attention has been called to an article published in last Sunday's "Herald" entitled "The Bowery, a Paradise of Criminals," and we wish to enter our protest against it.

While there has been much criticism of the Bowery in the past (justly or otherwise), it is manifestly unfair to say that a condition of affairs exists to-day to warrant it. Any one who is familiar with the street and the people who use it, will refute any such conclusion, and we can affirm without fear of contradiction that the Bowery to-day is less frequented by bad characters, and is in every way cleaner than many other sections and avenues in the city. It seems to be a habit that sensational reporters have acquired, of characterizing pretty much all crime with having its inception on the Bowery, and while we do not claim that the Bowery is by any means spotless, we think it entirely unfair to publish articles, with flaring headlines, which are absolutely misleading, and tell and depict what is alleged to have happened years ago, of characters, many of whom are now dead, and connect with it "schools of crime" that it is claimed exist on an avenue parallel with the Bowery, but not on it.

Why do not some of the papers assist us in showing the conditions as they actually exist, instead of creating and fostering the prevalent impression that honesty and decency are unknown on the Bowery; an impression entirely foreign to the present conditions?

The Bowery has probably more natural advantages than any other downtown street, yet it has been, until very recently, neglected by real estate operators and investors, largely owing to the reputation it once had, and now is being injured by the continued publication of this ancient history by the sensational press. Nowhere in the city is there as good opportunity for investment, speculation and business as there is on this much maligned street, and if some of our enterprising (?) newspapers will kindly quit "pounding," the Bowery will become within a very short time what it is destined to be, one of the finest business streets in the city.

This Association has, without municipal or other outside assistance, been engaged for about two years in improving the business conditions of the Bowery, and as an evidence of the faith its members have in the future of the street, points with pride to the fact that its membership represents a business and invested interest of over $25,000,000.

Yours very respectfully,

The Bowery Realty and Business Men's Protective Ass'n.

E. C. SCHAEFER, President.

North Side Board of Trade.

Messrs. Fransioli and Wood, representing the Interborough Railroad Company, appeared before the North Side Board of Trade Tuesday evening to ask the board to support their application to the Board of Aldermen for a franchise. They said that the Stock Exchange house of Wood, Havemeyer & Kearny is backing the company; that they will connect with all stations of the Rapid Transit Subway Road, give five-cent fares and transfers, and start the road in a year and complete it in five, if they get the franchise. The matter was referred to the Railroad Committee to confer with the company's representatives and investigate.

The Committee on Railroads reported that at a conference between President Haffen, of the Borough of the Bronx, and representatives of the New York & Putnam Railroad, the New York and Harlem Railroad, and the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad, recently, the companies had promised that they would establish bridges at grade crossings in the borough. It was said that this means the placing of bridges at Westchester av, the Southern Boulevard, King's Bridge road, and many other grade crossings.

William M. Ryan.

In spite of the fact that he had been severely and even dangerously ill for some weeks, the death of Mr. William M. Ryan at the Hotel Netherland last Tuesday afternoon must come as a shock to his many friends and business associates. For Mr. Ryan was only in his fortieth year, and presumably had many years of active business ahead of him; and a man of his age and physique can generally pull through even a severe attack of an acute disease. But unfortunately in Mr. Ryan's case, his health had already been undermined by a very close and devoted attention to business. Living, as he did, in a somewhat distant New Jersey suburb, and being often kept until a late hour in New York by the pressure of his business affairs, he frequently gave fewer hours to rest and recuperation than was quite wholesome. And the consequence was that when he was taken down with a serious case of pneumonia, his constitution could not offer as stubborn and successful resistance as is usually the case with a man of his age and vigorous disposition.

Mr. Ryan was born on March 22, 1863, in this city. His education was received at St. Francis Xavier's College, in 16th st, and at St. Laurent College, in Montreal. He made an early start in business, and before he was twenty years old was actively engaged in the office of the late Richard V. Harnett. It was in that office, in association with his first partner, Mr. Philip A. Smyth, that Mr. Ryan learned his business, and learned it thoroughly. Mr. Harnett was at that time beginning to make the broker play a much more active part in real estate transactions than had formerly been the case. Until his influence and example became important, it had been generally customary for brokers to sit in their offices and wait for buyers and sellers to come to them, whereas Mr. Harnett infused initiative and enterprise into the business by making his office a more active agent in bringing buyers and sellers together. It was due in large measure to his example that the brokers of New York have come to play such an important part in the real estate transactions of the present day. Mr. Ryan, as soon as he started in business, came under this influence and example; and when in 1885, he left Mr. Harnett, it was to carry the same enterprising methods into the work of his own office. Associated with him as senior clerk in Mr. Harnett's office had been Mr. Phillip A Smyth; and it was in his company, until the well-known firm name of Smyth & Ryan, that the new business was started. They met with immediate and abundant success. The firm soon came to be one of the most prominent in the city, and controlled, not only a large and important brokerage business, but also an equally important auction trade. At that time it was Mr. Smyth who for the most part took care of the auction market, and Mr. Ryan of the private sales.

In 1895, the partnership was dissolved, and Mr. Ryan set up in business on an entirely independent basis, and since that time he has been one of the most active auctioneers, brokers and appraisers in the city—too active, indeed, for his own good. Mr. Ryan's auction business was very large, indeed, and it was the strain of conducting long and fatiguing sales which probably did more than anything else to undermine his health. But, although he was most prominently before the public as an auctioneer, Mr. Ryan's sales as broker ran well up into the millions; and his knowledge of real estate values was so full and definite that he was much in demand as an appraiser. He was, indeed, the regular appraiser for the Washington Life Insurance Company and the American Mortgage Co., as well as for several savings banks, and for a number of law firms having charge of large estates. It was no wonder, consequently, that Mayor Low, when he assumed office, tried to get Mr. Ryan to take the position of Tax Commissioner; but Mr. Ryan's private interests demanded his whole time.

Mr. Ryan was twice president of the Xavier Alumni Sodality and a member of the New York Athletic, Catholic, Narragansett and Morristown Field clubs, the Knights of Columbus and Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. He was treasurer and one of the founders of the Real Estate Auctioneers' Association. His place of business was at No. 149 Broadway. His home was in Morristown, N. J. He was a popular man among his business associates, as among those of his private life. He leaves behind him an enjoyable record of business energy, good judgment, and personal integrity. In 1897 Mr. Ryan lost his wife, who was Miss Agnes Geraty. Four children and two brothers, Thomas A. and Vincent A. Ryan, survive him.

The funeral services were conducted yesterday in St. Patrick's Cathedral in the presence of the family, supported by a large gathering of social and business friends of the deceased. A full requiem mass was celebrated. The following were the pall-bearers: Hon. Andrew H. Green, ex-Mayor Hugh J. Grant, Justice James A. O'Gorman, President James L. Wells of the Tax Department, B. Aymar Sands, Frederic J. Middlebrook, Patrick Brady, Joseph Mahan, William C. Arnold, Richard L. Walsh, D. Phoenix Ingraham and William W. Lawrence.

The Real Estate Auctioneers' Association were officially represented by a committee consisting of D. Phoenix Ingraham, James L. Wells, Philip A. Smyth, Morris Wilkins, Peter F. Meyer and John N. Golding.

Vibrations Caused in Houses by Underground Trains.

Many complaints are being made in London of the vibrations caused in houses by the trains of the Central London Railway, and as a result of these complaints, an expert was entrusted by the Board of Trade with the duty of ascertaining the extent of the vibration as demonstrated by special apparatus. As similar vibrations are likely to be caused in New York by the trains running through the subway, the part of the expert's report relating to vibrations in houses is worth the attention of the owners of property in the neighborhood of the subway. It should be premised also that the instrument employed was a mechanically-recording seismometer, which at first enlarged the actual motion of the ground to ten times the full size. Afterwards an instrument was employed which recorded photographically, and gave a magnification of seventy-five. From the care taken in the observations, the results are not likely to be questioned.

The result of the investigation was most interesting. The vibrations exist, but in most cases the effect upon the flooring of a house is much less than is produced by stamping with the feet. The experiments also showed that when the vibrations are longest and best marked, the chief component shows a definite period, which is nearly independent of the speed of the train, but differs for different classes of line construction On the Central London Railway, with the rails on longitudinal sleepers and concrete, the frequency is about 15 per second. Wherever the vibrations have become annoying, the reason of their potency is that most of the floors in good-sized rooms have natural frequencies of the same order of magnitude. Experiments with the recording apparatus showed that the motion of the walls and solid floors of the basements was very small compared with that of the floors of the upper rooms. From the fact, however, that the room floors act as elastic plates, and have natural periods not so much out of time with the chief periods propagated from the train, a kind of "resonance" effect occurs, so that a very small motion of the supporting walls may, if properly timed, give rise to many times larger motions in the floor itself.

Perhaps the most remarkable thing which the inquiry made evident is the extreme smallness of the actual motions, which give rise to complaint. The amplitudes of the vibrations in the houses examined rarely exceed a thousandth of an inch, and such an amplitude, when the frequency is over ten per second, is a genuine source of annoyance. It is true that a single person walking across the floor will set up much larger vibrations, but as far as the occupants of the room are concerned this does not seem to be noticed. The cause of the disturbance is evident, and the motion of the floor ceases when people cease moving. The vibrations caused by the trains, on the other hand, are most conspicuous when the house is otherwise quiet. Further observations showed: (1) That it was a matter of chance whether a given locomotion caused a slight or a severe vibration; (2) that trains causing severe vibrations in one house were as likely as not to cause only slight vibrations in others; (3) that different rooms in the same house were not similarly affected by the same train. In general it may be said as the result of the investigation, that although inconvenience arises, the vibration on underground railways in London does not cause any injuries to buildings, but that in some cases it diminishes the value of private dwellings.

Building Law—Modifications.

TYPICAL DECISIONS BY THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

The decisions of the Board of Examiners have naturally an interest to builders and architects. Often the interest is individual, but there are a good many instances in which it is, or ought to be, general throughout the building trades by reason of its novelty or wide application. The position of the Board is now one of more independence than it has ever had before. It is a board of appeal in structural matters, under certain circumstances, for the whole city, in which the several superintendents have no voice, except as parties to the questions carried up for decision. The power of the superintendents to suspend the rules and regulations of his bureau or the provisions of the charter or building laws is found in Section 410 of the charter, and is confined to cases "where there are practical difficulties in the way of carrying out the strict letter of the law so that the spirit of the law shall be observed and public safety secured and practical justice done." This power in the superintendents is subject to the approval of the several presidents of the boroughs in which the case may arise. The powers given to the Board of Examiners is much more extensive. Section 411 of the charter provides when appeals may be taken to the board, as follows: Whenever a superintendent of building to whom such a question has been submitted shall reject or refuse: (1) To approve the mode, manner of construction or materials proposed to be followed or used in the erection or alteration of any building or structure within the borough under his jurisdiction and included within the provisions of existing law; (2) or when it is claimed that the rules or regulations of the president of the borough or the provisions of law or ordinances do not apply; (3) or that an equally good and more desirable form of construction can be employed in any specific case, the owner may appeal from the decision of the superintendent where the amount involved by such decision shall exceed the sum of one thousand dollars.

Under these provisions it is held that the decisions of the board of appeals do not form precedents to guide the superintendents in future similar cases; that he is bound by the law except where practical difficulties stand in the way of its observances, and that in the cases relating to the substitution of a material that is not, for one that is required by law, or that the rules and regulations of the bureau do not apply, or a desired change in form of construction from that required by law, the matter must always go to the Board of Examiners whether occurring once or repeated in a hundred different cases.

The principle guiding the board in the matter of concessions is that of the quid pro quo. Where owner is relieved of an onerous requirement he must supply something which, while not onerous, adds to the strength or safety of the building, etc. The board have now been acting for about three months under the provisions of the amended charter, making them an independent board of appeal, and it becomes of interest to know what they have been doing and to obtain an idea of their line of policy. This can be done best by giving their decisions in particular cases where there are features of some novelty. For convenience and to give a more comprehensive view these are classified under general heads, as will be seen in the following. It may be stated, to indicate where the board's business comes from, that up to April 15th, which is the last date for which their proceedings have been made public, they have received 76 appeals. Of these 69 originated in Manhattan, three in the Bronx, two each in Brooklyn and in Queens, and none in Richmond.

PENT- OR DECK-HOUSES.

The board have invariably granted without dissension applications for pent-houses or deck-houses, as they are sometimes called, of the usual kind; providing only that they were of fireproof construction and the wood used therein be fireproofed wood, and when placed upon the top of a 12-story building the building did not then exceed the height prescribed for a 12-story building, i. e., 150 feet. Such concessions were made in the cases of the buildings at Nos. 72 and 74 Broadway and Nos. 9 and 13 New st, Nos. 110 and 114 East 58th st, the Tribune Building, Nos. 59 to 63 West 44th st, Nos 133 to 137 West 47th st, the Macy Building, 34th st and Broadway, Nos. 50 and 52 Pine st and a number of stores.

Something more has been granted in other cases. There is an objection in the board to allowing a pent-house to form a 13th story, even though coming within the limit of height for a 12-sty building. By a divided vote something of this kind was, however, granted in the case of Nos. 35 and 37 Madison av and Nos. 36 to 40 West 26th st. In this case application was made for a pent-house covering the Madison av or main front of the building and having from the street the appearance of a 13th story, to be used as a dining-room and kitchen. Construction was to be of brick for three of its walls, the other iron and terra cotta covered with metal on the outside and all trim of fireproofed wood.

Another rather exceptional case was that of Nos. 135 and 137 West 47th st, where the pent-house applied to formed a 13th story on the rear. Construction was of brick side and rear walls and the cross-wall iron framing filled in with burnt clay blocks and covered on the outside with metal. Fireproofed wood was specified for interior trim. The pent-house was intended for servants' quarters. This was also granted by a divided vote.

The board have invariably denied applications for pent-houses on 12-story buildings where the pent house would cause the building to exceed the limit of height for a 12-story building. Such a privilege was denied to the owner of the building at the southwest corner of Broadway and 67th st. The pent-house was to comply with requirements as to construction and to occupy 25% of the roof area. The privilege could only have been obtained by compliance with Section 105 of the Code, applying to fireproofing in buildings of more than 12 stories and over 150 feet in height.

Further, the board have declined to sanction pent-houses that approximated a full 13th story, although complying with the requirement of construction and fire-protection and coming within the limit of height for a 12-story building. An instance of such a refusal is found in the case of No. 14 East 64th st, the owners of which wanted to cover 75% of the roof area with the pent-house.

CURTAIN WALLS.

An important modification of the requirement for thickness of brick walls as made in the case of the Knickerbocker Hotel, now being erected on the southwest corner of Broadway and 42d st. The court walls of this building begin at the top of the first story and are supported by columns and girders. The first story is entirely open to the court. The walls are carried up to a height of 180 feet. Application was made for permission to make the curtain walls in these courts 12 inches throughout. The requirement is for 12 inches for the first 75 feet from the top down and an increase of 4 inches in each 75 feet thereunder. The board declined to modify this further than to allow the thickness of 12 inches to be carried down 100 feet instead of 75 feet. All that was gained was a saving of 4 inches in 25 feet of wall. When the Waldorf-Astoria was built, the requirement for thickness of walls began with 12 inches for only the first 50 feet. Construction of courts of that hotel was similar to that of the Knickerbocker, and the board allowed the 12-inch wall to extend down 75 feet in that case, so that the progress of events in this particular has made a legal saving of 4 inches in 25 feet of wall and a saving of a further 4 inches in 25 feet under the discretionary powers of the board.

ADDITIONAL STORY.

In a good many cases where an additional story is to be added to an existing building the walls of which would not be quite up to the requirements of the Code for a building of the intended height, but where the strength is sufficient to sanction it, the board has allowed the additional story provided the walls were laid up in cement mortar. As a general rule, where the building is up to the 75-foot limit for non-fireproof buildings any addition to the structural height is refused. There are exceptions made, however, where the original building is of better construction than that required by law for one of its class. An instance is the building Nos. 49 to 53 Lafayette place, which is of slow-burning construction. That is to say, the stairs are fireproof and enclosed with brick walls; the elevator shafts are enclosed in brick walls; deafening is inserted between the wooden floor beams; ceilings are metal lathed and plastered, and the iron columns are encased in fireproof material. In this case an additional story was allowed although it caused the building to exceed the 75-foot limit of height.

STAIRCASES AND ELEVATOR SHAFTS.

The Building Code requires that the walls of elevator shafts in non-fireproof buildings used as warehouses, stores and factories shall be of brick. The board have uniformly disapproved the use of angle-iron and fireproof filling as a substitute, believing that the latter construction is not as good as the Code requires, and there being no reason for the substitution other than the desire of the owner to economize in the cost of his building. Denials were made of applications of this nature in the case of Nos. 62 and 64 Greene st and in another case.

In a fireproof hotel building where the area of the proposed building exceeded by a small amount that for which staircases were provided, the board have accepted in lieu of the additional staircase that the enclosure of the elevator shafts be made solid; that the main hall partitions enclosing the entrance be solid fireproof terra cotta blocks, with the access from the main stairway and apartments to the basement enclosed throughout by solid fireproof terra cotta blocks; that door cases and jambs be metal covered, and that all glazed openings be wire glassed; that staircase fire escapes connecting each floor be provided, etc. This was the case of the addition to the Cafe Martin, at No 210 5th av, running through to No 1132 Broadway. Similar rulings were made in the case of No. 476 Broadway and Nos. 28 to 32 West 22d st, commercial buildings. One applicant offered to add an ordinary fire escape as an equivalent for a staircase, but his offer was refused.

The Cafe Martin is the first instance where a fireproof hotel elevator shaft has been required to be closed in solidly. This is said to foreshadow the requirement that elevator shafts in all fireproof buildings shall be so enclosed, either by metal or wired glass placed behind the grill work.

Before leaving the subject of elevators, it may be stated that the board have refused to allow an elevator to be substituted for a hand hoist where it was not intended to enclose the shaft in brick to meet the requirement for elevator shafts.

REBUILDING THEATRE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Application was made to rebuild Miner's 8th av theatre, destroyed by fire. The applicant claimed that he had a right to restore the building as it stood before the fire, without complying with present requirements in theatre construction, such as the side courts, etc., and building entirely fireproof, although the applicant proposed to make it a fireproof building. The superintendent denied this application, and on appeal he was sustained by a majority vote of the Board of Examiners, the majority holding that the theatre should be reconstructed absolutely in accordance with existing requirements of law. It may be stated that this case has been taken to the courts by the appellant.

CHURCHES.

Where church edifices include a room intended to be used as a Sunday school, the Bureau of Buildings has held that this brings them under the requirements for school construction, that is, entirely fireproof. On appeal the board have allowed non-fireproof construction, on condition that the heating apparatus, which is usually located in the basement, be surrounded by brick walls and that the main floor over the furnace be constructed of iron beams and brick arches.

Due-Date for Taxes.

COMPTROLLER GROUT MAKES A NEW SUGGESTION FOR PUBLIC DISCUSSION.

Comptroller Grout's announced intention to repeat his effort to secure the passage of a bill to change the due-date for taxes, so that the city would have funds in hand with which to meet payments, instead of borrowing at a cost to taxpayers of from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 a year in interest, has led to an interesting correspondence between him and Henry F. Miller, in which the Comptroller offers a modified plan for consideration by the interested between now and the next meeting of the Legislature. Mr. Miller wrote to Mr. Grout, referring to this intention, and bringing to his notice what he (the writer) thought the cardinal objection to the Comptroller's plan, as it was publicly understood, in these words:

"It seems to me that the injustice to the taxpayer resulting from your bill can be readily illustrated by an example founded upon actual fact. An owner of various parcels of property pays in taxes $6,000 a year. Beginning on October 1st, he lays by from the income of the property $500 each month to meet the tax for the next year. As 12 months roll by, the $6,000 taken from the income are ready to meet the tax. Assume this to be on the 1st of next October. The taxpayer then lays aside every month as before the sum of $500. On the 1st of February, four months thereafter, he will have laid aside but $2,000 from the income; to meet the tax, if payable on that day, would require him to take from his individual monies $4,000. This $4,000 is forever lost to him. He never receives it back; for the succeeding February 1st will require a payment of $6,000, which would be obtained by setting apart each month a proportionate amount, say $500. What advantage has been gained? The individual taxpayers will all lose a sum equal to two-thirds of the yearly taxes they are called upon to pay. The saving to the city in point of interest will make a difference in the amount necessary to raise by taxation, comparatively small in amount and hardly to be appreciated in fixing the tax-rate. Assuming, therefore, that your purpose is economy and a saving to the taxpayers, it seems to me that your remedy is worse than the disease."

Thereupon Mr. Grout addressed to Mr. Miller the following letter:

Dear Sir: I have yours of the 10th inst., relating to the proposed change in the law for the collection of taxes. I was very much disappointed that the bill which failed did not get public attention and public discussion pending its passage, so that objections might have been considered in time to remedy them. I used every possible effort to create such public discussion at the time. I do intend to present a new bill at the next Legislature, for I think the subject is of too much importance to be dropped in its present condition. With a view of meeting the objections which have been urged, however, I have been thinking of a bill which would leave the present date when taxes become a lien unchanged; that is, the first Monday in October, which would leave the present date when the penalty for non-payment begins unchanged, that is, the first day of December, but which would provide that the tax shall be ascertained and fixed the first day of January each year, although not confirmed and made a lien until the first Monday of October, which will make such tax apportionable between buyer and seller, as so fixed and determined, and will leave to the taxpayer the option of paying the tax at any time between the first of January and the first of December, with a rebate at the rate of three per cent. per annum for the anticipated period.

This suggestion is in rough, and I have not gone into the details of it as yet, but as the city collects in October and November each year, under the present system, between fifty-five and sixty millions of its tax levy; this sum, if attracted by the rebate during the first eleven months of the year, would take the city pretty well out of the market for revenue bonds, leaving us, perhaps, not more than ten millions to borrow, and will enable us to get it at three per cent. instead of a rate of interest which now approximates four, and it seems to me would obviate the objections which have been raised.

I shall be very glad to have your views upon this proposition.

Yours very truly, EDWARD M. GROUT, Comptroller.

A representative of the Record and Guide called upon Comptroller Grout to obtain further views from him on the subject of the letter quoted above. The Comptroller said he had not had time to argue the matter out thoroughly. His suggestion was intended to meet the objections that had been made to the bill to change the due-date for taxes passed by the last Legislature; but if there were practical, technical or legal objections in the way of its adoption he would be glad to be informed of them.

"One would," he said, "naturally sooner have a measure that is satisfactory to everybody than one that has to be pushed through against great opposition, and I am most anxious to meet the views of the taxpayers and to study their interests.

"One objection to the late bill was that by changing the date when the taxes became a lien confusion might be created, and perhaps trouble between mortgagor and mortgagee. Another was to changing the time when penalties became effective. I now leave these unchanged. By making taxes payable any time after January 1st, with a rebate at the rate of three per cent, I think it will eventually lead to payments being made early in January, pretty much as they are now made in October for the sake of the rebate, and that, though not entirely, would very greatly reduce the city's necessity to issue revenue bonds.

"This plan could be tried for a year or two, and if it was then found necessary, could be changed."

Mr. Miller, in acknowledging Comptroller Grout's letter, wrote partly as follows:

As I understand your present plan, it would be practically to leave matters as they are, as far as the time for compulsory payment or the imposition of penalties is concerned, but to permit a much earlier payment, and in fact to induce the same by offering a rebate to be calculated on the basis of three per cent. interest from the time of payment to the first of December following.

It seems to me that this plan is free from the objections which I urged in my note to you of the 10th inst., for the taxpayers are permitted, if they desire, to continue payments as at the present time, and have the option, if they deem it advantageous, to make the earlier payments. There is no injustice in such a provision, and if you feel satisfied it would prove of advantage to the city, I am sure it would meet with no opposition.

On my own part, I have a suggeestion to make which would undoubtedly accomplish the result you have in mind, provided, of course, there would be no obstacle in law or statute. My suggestion is that a bill be prepared which, after providing for the necessary formalities as to the ascertainment and fixing of the tax rate, should direct that (beginning with the year following the passage of the bill), henceforth the taxes should always be paid on the first day of February of each year, provided, always, however, that on the February first next following, when said law goes into effect, the taxpayers be called upon to pay the tax for one-third of a year, and thereafter a whole year's tax on each February first.

In this way, without any hardship whatever, the time of payment of the tax is changed instantly, and the city will not have to pay for the advantages it thus receives, while the property-owner stands, from the standpoint of dollars and cents, in the same position as before.

Foreclosure Sale Set Aside.

Justice Gildersleeve yesterday set aside the sale of Nos. 865 to 871 Brook av and No. 3151 3d av, in a mortgage foreclosure action entitled Arthur Sandys against Edgar Ketchum and others. The application was made to the court by the owner of the equity of redemption, whose claim was that the sale was not a fair one. The property in question was bought in 1898 for $52,500, and many improvements had since been made. The evidence showed the value to be as high as $56,000. The mortgage against the property was for $37,000. When the sale was held on March 14 last a bid for $42,500 was accepted. The bidder left to get his 10 per cent. of the purchase price, and said he would return shortly with the money. After waiting ten minutes the referee insisted on putting the property up for sale again, although the defendant offered to pay all expenses of the day if the sale were adjourned. The second sale took place after most of the buyers had left, and the plaintiff this time became the purchaser for $40,500. The amount of the judgment was such that if allowed to stand the defendant would have to pay a deficiency of about $2,500. The court said: "The law will not tolerate the slightest undue advantage over the debtor, even by pursuing the strict forms of law or positive rules. I incline to think that the referee should have allowed the adjournment, under the circumstances, as the delay in waiting for the first purchaser may have caused the second sale to be held under disadvantageous conditions, and certainly the preponderance of proof shows that the property was sold to the plaintiff for considerable less than its value."

Among the signs of activity and prosperity in the borough is the filing of plans this week for a 12-sty apartment house to be built on the east side of Clinton st, 173.9 south of Fulton st, at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars. There are few high residence buildings in this borough, and the addition of one of the proportions of this one is an acceptable fact, proving that the borough is moving somewhat in the line of the best metropolitan development.

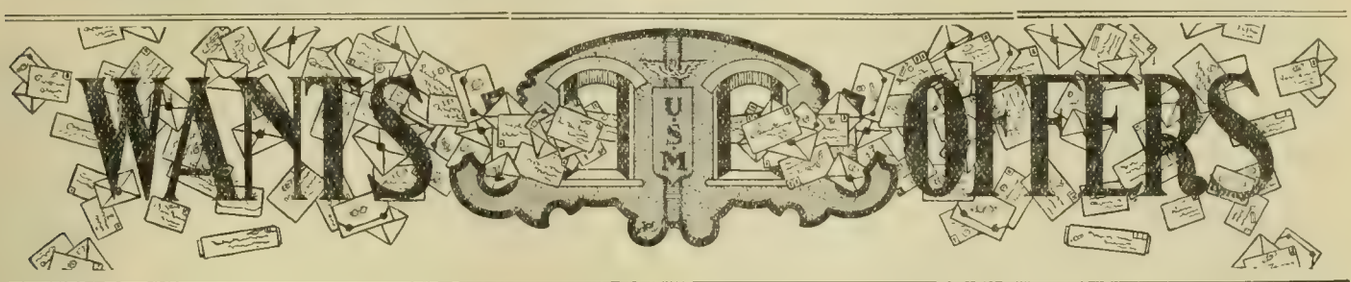
The adjoining parcel, No. 36 Broadway, 42.8 and irregular, was conveyed to the same company by Bleecker N. Mitchell for $500,000. The entire plot has been mortgaged by its new owners to the Lawyers' Title Insurance Co. for $1,150,000, due in one year, and bearing 4½ per cent. interest. It contains 21,483 square feet, which at $2,000,000 for the plot would make the square foot price $93.09; the highest price per foot for any broadway property south of Exchange pl.



Owners and agents of apartment houses will be interested in a decision rendered by the Appellate Division in Brooklyn this week confirming the verdict of a jury in the First District Municipal Court, which found in favor of John Hill, proprietor of the Clarendon Hotel, and who lived in the Ardsley apartment house. Mr. Hill was sued by George E. Lovett & Co., agents for the apartment house, to recover rent. Mr. Hill testified he had to move because of insufficient heat. The apartments were called "steam heated," but the defendant and his wife frequently had to put on wraps to keep warm. The agents appealed from the decision of the lower court. All the justices of the Appellate Division concurred in the finding of the jury.

G. Tuoti & Co., real estate brokers, have moved their offices to the second floor of the "Evening Post" Building, No. 206 Broadway, where they are ensconced in a fine suite of rooms, Nos. 18, 19 and 20. The firm will, as heretofore, deal as brokers in real estate in all parts of the city, making a specialty of the sale and leasing of property in the Italian sections, a branch of business in which they have for several years been the recognized leaders. They have recently been appointed special agents for the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. in the Italian sections, and their wide knowledge and large business acquaintance in this particular branch should prove of inestimable value to both themselves and the company mentioned.

Building on Murray Hill.

The recently completed "Dunsbro" apartment house, at Nos. 120 and 122 East 31st st, is of the best type yet constructed in the exclusive Murray Hill section. It is 8 stories high and arranged for two families on a floor, the house being 38.6x88.9, on plot 98.9, which allows 9 good-sized rooms and bath to each suite. The basement contains fireproof storage rooms for the exclusive use of tenants, and a completely furnished laundry with drying rooms. An improved electric elevator, mail chutes and telephones, are up-to-date features. The reception and main halls are richly decorated, the walls being paneled with the finest Sienna marbles, and the floors paved with imported white Italian marble. The woodwork is of the finest hardwoods, and the dining rooms are wainscoted in Flemish oak. Floors, throughout, including chambers, are parquette. Modern scientific and sanitary plumbing is provided. The bathrooms are complete and elaborate pieces of lavatorial work. A new feature that will be appreciated is the absence of air spaces in the floors, walls, or partitions, all being built of either solid brick, terra cotta or concrete. Otto Grimmer, the owner, is to be congratulated on having erected a house with all the advantages of select and central location, protection from fire, cheerful and handsome surroundings, and all the conveniences that minister to health and comfort. In keeping with the great re-building movement on the East Side, it is interesting to note that nearly the entire north side of this block is being rebuilt in the best way, the private houses being remodeled and made up-to-date in every particular.

STREET TO BE WIDENED.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I intend to erect a building on a street which is to be widened. Commissioners have been appointed, but title to whatever portion is to be taken is still vested in present owners. Can I build on present lot line, or will I have to wait for a new line?

Answer.—You can build, of course, but you run the risk of getting little or nothing for your building when the street, as widened, shall be opened.—Law Editor.

CONTINUANCE OF MECHANIC'S LIEN.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

In March, 1901, a mechanic's lien was filed. A few days before the expiration of the year the lienor filed a renewal of the same lien without any notice to the owner. Does the lien hold good against the property, no action in foreclosure having been commenced during the year after the original filing of the lien? No materials or labor have been furnished since December, 1900.

Answer.—Section 16 of the Lien Law provides: "No lien specified in this article shall be a lien for a longer period than one year after the notice of lien has been filed unless within that time an action is commenced to foreclose the lien * * * * or unless an order be granted within one year from the filing of such notice by a court of record continuing such lien, and such lien shall be redocketed as of the date of granting such order and a statement made that such lien is continued by virtue of such order." I presume that the lien in the case you present has been continued according to law by an order of a court of record, and it will hold good. It is not necessary, to obtain such an order, that notice shall be piven to any one.—Law Editor.

AGENT'S COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A agrees to lease three lofts for one year and ten months from April 1st, and pays a deposit of $50 to the owner. Broker who took A to owner draws up leases, and after trying for three weeks to have A sign, A finally disappears without leaving any address. (1) Can owner rent these lofts to another? (2) Is he entitled to hold deposit? (3) Has broker earned his commission, which is less than the deposit?

Answer.—(1) He can safely do so. (2) A forfeits his deposit after the first of April. (3) The broker has not earned his commission.—Law Editor.

FIXTURES.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

In your issue of Feb. 22, 1902, you answered a query under the title, "Fixtures," which was submitted by us. The query was as to our right to remove fixtures placed in a building, under a contract with the purchaser, that the title in these goods shall not pass from us until after the same are fully paid for, and that we shall have the right to remove the goods in case the payment had not been made by a certain date. We asked if we would have the right under the law, to remove these goods, even should the owner of the building have no knowledge of the agreement. You answered, "If your goods should be affixed to the realty so as to become part of it, you would not be entitled to remove them, after the purchaser of the goods sold the building," and you referred us to the case of Andrews v. Power, 66 App. Div., 216. We would like to ask if a reading of N. Y. Investment and Improvement Co. v. Cosgrove, 47 App. Div., 35, decided in January, 1900, would change your views?

Answer.—The perusal of the Cosgrove case does not modify my views expressed in my previous answer. In this latter case, the plaintiff sought by injunction to restrain the defendants, vendors of plumbing materials, from removing the materials from a building on which the plaintiff held a mortgage. In this action the plaintiff was defeated, the court saying, "The plaintiff's argument rests largely upon the assumption that the vendors of the plumbing materials by their own act made them a part of the realty. But this assumption is erroneous. The trial court found upon sufficient evidence that these plumbing materials could be removed without injury to the freehold. In such a case it has long been settled in this state that articles, which would ordinarily become fixtures on account of their nature and the manner of their annexation to the realty, may retain their character as personal property by reason of a special agreement to that effect between the parties." In my answer to your query published February 22d, I said: "If your goods should be affixed to the realty, so as to become a part of it, you would not be entitled to remove them after the purchaser of the goods sold the building to another." The Power case and the Cosgrove case differ materially as to the facts.—Law Editor.

The World of Building

The Structural Steel Situation.

Instances where work on buildings involving the use of large quantities of steel has been seriously retarded, because of the failure of contractors to provide materials fast enough, have become so numerous that the Record and Guide has undertaken an investigation of the matter, in order, if possible, to find the cause of these delays, and perhaps to suggest at least a partial remedy. The difficulty experienced in securing steel for structural purposes affects not only buildings in course of construction, but to even a greater extent has it embarrassed builders who require this class of material in the near or immediate future. In some cases which have been reported builders have delayed the starting of buildings, fearing their inability to complete them within a reasonable time.

In order that all sides of the question might be investigated, expressions of opinion have been secured from prominent architects and builders, as well as from producers of and dealers in structural steel. While all do not agree in this point, the great majority incline to the opinion that the present strained condition of the steel trade is due both to the unprecedented demand for steel for bridge and railroad construction throughout the country, and to the great activity in the erection of steel structures in all of our large cities. The Wabash and other roads are planning and building extended additions to their systems, and all of the bridges are to be of the most modern type. Other roads are removing antiquated timber bridges and substituting in their stead iron and steel. The great activity in building circles reported from all the large cities is due to a complexity of causes rather than to one factor which can be applied universally. Of course, the great prosperity of the country is at the bottom of it; men of large fortune are becoming more and more numerous, and are constantly seeking advantageous chances to invest their capital. In Chicago a potent factor in giving an impetus to the construction of steel buildings was the recent removal of the restrictions limiting the height of buildings to ten stories. This released at once some sixteen projects which had been kept in abeyance. These buildings ranged from a dozen stories to over twenty, and of course called for immense quantities of structural materials of all kinds. Owing in part to the changes in the tenement house laws of New York, very few apartment houses of the old style are being put up. The fireproof apartment hotel is now having unprecedented vogue in this city; during the first quarter of the present year plans have been filed for fifteen of these structures, to be built at a cost of upwards of $5,000,000. In Philadelphia, Baltimore and Pittsburg, many office buildings of large size are being built and planned. All these activities coming together are responsible for the great pressure in the steel business, and in all branches depending upon it. The unpleasant effects arising from these causes are widespread, and demand much consideration and study.

A prominent architect and builder, Mr. Chas. Buek, says that in some cases the fault is not that the mills are unable to fill orders with reasonable promptness, but that contractors do not use sufficient foresight in placing their orders. In at least one case which has come to his notice, he believes delays to have been caused by errors in judgment rather than by any real scarcity of materials. In a case mentioned by Mr. Buek a contract was made with a concern to furnish all the metal for a building. The cast iron came along on time, but the steel was way behind.

Mr. Wigand, of the firm of Cooper & Wigand, takes quite a gloomy view of the situation, which he says is steadily becoming worse. He says that cast and wrought iron are comparatively easy to obtain, but that steel must either be ordered from four to six months in advance, or a bonus amounting in some cases to nearly 100% paid for earlier deliveries.

Mr. J. M. Cornell, of J. B. & J. M. Cornell, when approached with a request for his opinion, stated that while it is undoubtedly difficult to secure large orders promptly, both on account of the great congestion of business at the mills and because of inadequate transportation facilities, in his judgment in most cases delays could be obviated by placing orders earlier. Mr. Cornell considers the present situation quite unusual, and predicts a much improved condition of affairs next year. The opinion that steel will be easier to obtain next year is not shared by either Mr. C. T. Wills or Mr. D. C. Weeks. These gentlemen consider the mills the crucial point, and see nothing to indicate any improved conditions in the near future. Mr. Weeks has recently placed an order for a hundred tons of beams and angles in Belgium and England. The manufacturers abroad agree to ship the goods in from three to six weeks after receipt of order. The material from the other side conforms to the standards of this country in all respects. The price paid is considerably in advance of that asked for domestic steel, but the producers in Pennsylvania were not able to promise delivery of the required goods under from five to six months, and this lost them the order. The only consideration which influenced Mr. Weeks in sending the order out of the country, was the greater promptness with which it would be executed.

Quite in contrast with the experience of most builders is the view of the situation as given by a representative of the G. A. Fuller Co. This company is behind on none of its work, and experiences no difficulty in obtaining structural materials of all classes whenever needed. They state that they have not in any way been embarrassed by the condition of the market.

The representative of one of the country's largest steel interests, whose name we are not at liberty to use, stated that while the mills were being run to their utmost capacity, in his opinion architects and builders could very materially aid the manufacturers and at the same time save themselves a great deal of trouble by placing their orders earlier; not to wait till the foundations are completed, then send in a rush order to the mills having prior orders which must be executed in rotation.

In conclusion, it may be said that even with the mills of the country working at their full capacity, they are hardly able to supply the demand for structural iron and steel. That this demand is one which will last, and which will not only maintain its present enormous proportions, but will continue to grow, is believed by many men who are in a position to form shrewd conjectures regarding the iron and steel business. In some cases the architects and builders are inclined to think the manufacturers arbitrary and unnecessarily slow in delivering goods. On the other hand, the producers maintain that a little more promptness on the part of the architects in filing specifications, and on the part of contractors in placing orders, would greatly relieve the situation, and work to the advantage of all concerned.

Have you read Wants and Offers on page 751.

Building Materials.

Building materials quite generally are in fair demand with prices maintained firmly. There is a plentiful supply of common building brick on hand, as manufacturers have rushed forward the loaded barges, fearing possible strikes. The call for lime, cement and brick is curtailed by the shortage of structural shapes, which delays nearly all building operations.

At Marion, Ind., a new window glass factory with a 30-blower tank will be built by the Federation Glass Company at an expense of $50,000. Contracts have been awarded to Pittsburg bidders.

As a result of the Belgium strike the window glass situation has strengthened materially. The American and Federation Window Glass companies are arranging for another meeting with the National Window Glass Jobbers' Association, when another order will be placed for the last output of the factories for the present fire. It is said that prices will be advanced 15 or 20 per cent. The Independent Glass Company has withdrawn its former quotations and it is understood that is will demand the same prices as the other companies.

Linseed oil operators predict an increase in prices soon.

Labor Disputes.

There have been no new disputes reported in the building trades during the week. Those open at the time of first report are going through the usual course towards settlement. Regarding the demand of the plasterers' laborers and the Employing Plasterers' Association are determined not to yield. The Iron League has signed the agreement presented to them by the Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's Union, to have effect throughout the coming year. The new scale of wages will be higher and a half-day off on Saturday is allowed.

W. A. Conover said yesterday that there had been no developments in the past week in the matter of the demand of the masons' laborers for increase of their wages from $2.75 to $3 a day.

President James Thomson, of the Employing Plasterers' Association, when seen, said that no agreement had been reached with the Plasterers' Laborers' Union in the matter of the plasterers' laborers' demand for an increase from $3 to $3.50 a day. "The Association considers the laborers' demands unreasonable," said Mr. Thomson, "and will not give way to them. Indications now show that the plasterers are becoming tired of losing $5 a day in the laborers' quarrel, and we expect soon to have the strike called off."

W. A. Garrigues, Secretary of the Iron League, has sent the following communication to its members: "Dear Sir: It has been decided by the majority of the members of the Executive Committee of the Iron League that it would be to the interests of the members of the League to sign an agreement with the United Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's Union, as presented by them for the coming year." The agreement mentioned calls for 50 cents an hour for outside finishers, 35 cents an hour for outside helpers, 35 cents an hour for inside finishers, and 25 cents an hour for inside helpers, with a half-day off Saturday and double rates for overtime work.

The Architectural Iron Workers' Union have decided on a similar demand, to take effect May 1, but as yet employers have heard nothing from it.

Henry Ives Cobb, the well-known Chicago architect, has apparently been unable to resist the attractive force of New York City, for he has just opened offices on the 3d floor of No. 115 Broadway.

The co-partnership heretofore existing under the firm name of Sexaner & Friedman, manufacturers and dealers in architectural and ornamental iron work at No. 512 West 36th st, has been dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued at the same address under the name of Sexaner Iron Works.

The Marine Engine and Machine Company, manufacturers of the "New Standard" electric elevator, have leased for a term of years the large building No. 125 White st, for the purpose of organizing and maintaining a thoroughly competent corps of electric and hydraulic experts, and also as a storage warehouse for repair parts and other material incidental to electric and hydraulic elevators. The main offices of the company will remain as heretofore at No. 1123 Broadway.

AN ARCHITECT'S FILE.

A bright scheme is in successful operation in one of the busy architect's office, which might well be called "An Information and Reference Bureau." A number of blank cards about 4x6 inches, set in a box in the manner of a card system, and separated in sections marked for "Apartment Houses," "Residences," "Factories," etc., is all that is necessary as to equipment. All useful data, whether illustrations, printed matter or notes, are attached to the card in their respective section. It takes but a second to refresh one's mind as to what others have done in the field, as the cards are handy and save wading through papers, magazines, etc. The system could easily be extended to include "Things Artistic," which could be nicely mounted and kept in the same manner. "Know what the world is doing" is made simple by a simple system.

GERMAN STEEL BEAMS.

Relief to builders in need of structural steel which they cannot obtain from native manufacturers within reasonable time, owing to the demands of home plants, is offered by William H. Wallace & Co., No. 66 Broadway, in the form of German steel beams, with delivery six weeks after receipt of order at works, and at a cost, including duty and freight, of about $12 a ton only more than the American goods. These beams are made in all sizes from American standards, and it is claimed that the additional cost is saved through avoiding delay in delivery, loss of interest, etc. Some orders have already been placed to effect a saving over cost of home-made goods. Architects and builders in the present congested condition of the home works, who are pressed for supplies or before placing orders, will see the advantage of communicating with William H. Wallace & Co., whose announcement appears among our business pages.

Obituary.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN HOOPER.

The death of Benjamin Franklin Hooper, which occurred suddenly at 11 o'clock on Sunday evening last, was a sad shock to his many friends and business associates in and outside of the plumbing supply trade. He was one of the best-known men in business, and, owing to the various interests with which he was connected, he was acquainted with the members of the plumbing supply trade all over the United States and Canada.

Benjamin Franklin Hooper was born in New York city June 30, 1857. He received his early education in New York private schools, where he was fitted for college, and in 1878 was graduated from the College of the City of New York with high honors. In September of the same year he engaged with the Colwell Lead Co., of which has father, John Hooper, was the president, and steadily advanced in position until, in 1889, upon the death of his father, he was elected president. This office he held until the time of his death. He was also President of the Independent Foundry Co., Port Chester, N. Y.; President of the Manufacturers' and Dealers' Protective Association; Vice-President of the Association of Manufacturers and Jobbers of Plumbers' Supplies; Treasurer of the National Committee of the Confederated Supply Associations, and also held the leading interest in the American Sanitary Co., Elizabeth, N. J. He was a member of the Colonial, Hardware, Fulton, New York Athletic and City College Clubs, the Chamber of Commerce, New England Society, St. John's Lodge, F. & A. M.; American Yacht, Larchmont Yacht, West Side Republican and National Arts Clubs, besides being upon various advisory and executive committees in the different associations with which he was connected. He was a director of the Central Park Improvement Co. Mr. Hooper leaves a widow and four children, Stanley, Walker, Emily May and Grace Duncan. The funeral services were held in the Church of the Divine Paternity, 76th st and Central Park West, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

EGBERT L. VIELE.

General Egbert L. Viele, who died on Tuesday last, was well known in realty circles. He took not only a prominent part in the laying out of the park system of the city, including the Riverside Drive, where he resided until a few years ago, but his topographical atlas of the city of New York is familiar to all real estate men, and is a very able piece of work, time only proving the accuracy of his calculations. This map, among other things, is the standing authority for the hidden water courses that sometimes trouble foundation diggers. He was an earnest worker for the city's development and adornment; clever, a cheerful and amiable man, whose loss can only be deplored. His life was full of years, for he had nearly attained his seventy-second birthday, and it was equally full of honor.

Questions and Answers.

NUISANCE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Adjoining our church there is a stable and at times the noise from the horses and other causes prevents properly conducting the services; also the smell is very disagreeable. May I ask you to advise what can be done in the matter.

Answer.—Your remedy is an action for an injunction.—Law Editor.

BUILDING LINE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

We own several houses in a row of one-family uniform built private frame houses; in fact, both sides of the street were built by one builder. Improvements are being constructed now, such as curbing and flagging, etc. Now, we understand that the railing (fence) has to be moved in closer to the houses. By doing so it will disimprove the front of the houses. Probably the builder originally had not set the fence in proper measure. So advise us how much space out from the walls it is provided by the law the railing or the fence is to be placed.

Answer.—The railing may not be beyond the building line. The law does not provide how far out from a building the front fence shall be. What the building line is depends upon the location of the property. You can ascertain that by application to the Department of Buildings.—Law Editor.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C. and C. a. G. are preceded by the name of the grantee they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing a Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Pub.ic Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

April 18, 19, 21, 22, 23 and 24.

Legal Decisions.

Lease—construction—"re-enter." The term "re-enter" in a lease reserving to the lessors the right upon default "into and upon said premises to re-enter and * * * the same to have again * * * as in their first and former estate," and upon which re-entry depends a covenant by the lessee to pay any deficiency arising on the reletting of the premises by the lessors as his agents, means only a re-entry in its technical sense as known to the common law by ejectment, and does not include the removal of the lessee by statutory summary proceedings.

Presumption—technical term—lease. The use of a purely technical term, especially when it is found in the midst of the quaint words of ancient leases, gives rise to the presumption that the parties used it with its strict common-law meaning, and this presumption is strengthened when the word occurs in an instrument drawn by one learned in the law.

Lease—significance of the term "Re-enter." The term "re-enter" used in a lease of real estate, as giving to the lessor the right to re-enter for non-payment of rent, etc., is a common law term which meant, and still means, when nothing different is indicated in the lease, the right to regain possession by an action in ejectment. The use of a purely technical term, especially when it is found in the midst of the quaint words of ancient leases, gives rise to the presumption that the parties used it with its strict common law meaning; and this presumption is strengthened when technical words occur in an instrument drawn by one learned in the law. A lessee therefore, who has covenated that if he defaults in the payment of rent it shall be lawful for the lessor "into and upon the said premises and every part thereof to re-enter" and repossess his former estate and re-let the same, and that he will be liable for any deficiency in the rent for the balance of the term, can only be liable for such deficiency when the landlord regains possession in the manner contemplated by the lease, viz., by an anction in ejectment. If he takes summary proceedings to dispossess the tenant, than the statute governing such proceedings, and which cancels the tenant's agreement to pay rent subsequent to the issuing of the warrant, applies to relieve him from liability for future deficiency. (Code of Civ. Pro., Sec. 2,253). (Court of Appeals, Michaels v. Fishel, New York Law Journal, Jan. 24, 1902).

Assumption of mortgage by grantee of land. Principal and surety—subrogation—sale of security before maturity of mortgage under the agreement between creditor and principal debtor, without notice to surety. When mortgaged premises are sold to one who assumes and agrees to pay the mortgage as part of the consideration, the vendee becomes the principal debtor, and the mortgagor his surety, with a vested right to be subrogated to the lien of the mortgage to the extent of any payment he may be obliged to make on his bond; and when the mortgagee has received notice of the conveyance and assumption of the mortgage, he cannot deal with the grantee touching the land or mortgage so as to impair or defeat such right or subrogation. Where, in partition proceedings to which the mortgagor was not a party, the premises are sold before the maturity of the mortgage and free and clear of its lien, by virtue of an arrangement between the mortgagee and the owners of the equity of redemption, whose ancestor had assumed the mortgage, such sale defeats the mortgagor's right of subrogation and releases him from liability on his bond. Semble, that where, after transfer of mortgaged premises to one who assumes and agrees to pay the mortgage and notice of the transaction to the mortgagee, the latter, without the knowledge of the mortgagor, consents that the premises be sold free and clear of the mortgage lien, and such sale is consummated, the principle that a creditor who sells pledged property without notice to a surety assumes responsibility for the full value of the property applies, and in an action for deficiency, against the mortgagor on the bond, it is error to exclude evidence of the value of the premises at the time of the sale. (Supreme Court, Appellate Division, Laid v. Wittkowski, New York Law Journal, Jan. 25, 1902).

Assignee of a mortgage—he takes subject to equities—mortgage to secure future advances—how far valid as against a junior incumbrancer. An assignee of a mortgage takes subject to all latent equities that exist in favor of the mortgagor and of third parties, notwithstanding that at the time of the assignment the assignor makes an affidavit that the mortgage is a valid security for the whole amount secured thereby, and that the assignee pays full value for the same. Where a mortgage given to secure future advances leaves it optional with the mortgagee whether or not to make such advances, he will not, as against a junior incumbrancer, be protected in making advances after notice of the existence of the junior incumbrance. (Scheurer v. Brown, 67 App. Div., 567.)

Principal and agent—brokers cannot act for both sides—proof under a general denial. Where brokers sue for commissions alleged to have been earned by them in buying certain real estate for the defendant, he may show under an answer denying all their allegations except that they are brokers, that he took title, and that the price was as they allege it, that they, without his knowledge or consent, or informing him thereof, were acting at the same time for the vendor in attempting to sell the same real estate for him to others, and that he was to pay the commission. (Wolff v. Denbosky, 36 Misc., 643.)

Contract for the sale of a house—a promise that if the vendee would perform, the vendor would make the cellar watertight is without consideration. A written contract for the sale of a dwelling in process of construction contained no provision upon the subject of a watertight cellar, but provided that such house "should be finished equal, if not superior, to a certain pattern house," and at the time fixed for the passing of the title, the vendee notified the vendor that the cellar of the house was not watertight, and that he would not take the title until it was made so. Held, that a promise made by the vendor, without any new consideration moving to him, that if the vendee would accept the title he would make the cellar watertight, was unenforceable, as the performance of an act which a party is under legal obligation to perform does not constitute a consideration for a new contract. (Jughardt vs. Reynolds, 68 App. Div., 171.)
